The Gothic Romance Wave Lori A. Paige, 2018-10-09. The late 1960s and early 1970s saw the birth of modern feminism, the sexual revolution, and strong growth in the mass-market publishing industry. Women made up a large part of the book market, and Gothic fiction became a higher popular staple. Victoria Holt, Mary Stewart, and Phyllis Whitney emerged as prominent authors, while the standardized paperback Gothic sold in the millions. Pitched at middle-class women of all ages, Gothics paved the way for contemporary fiction categories such as urban fantasy, paranormal romance, and vampire erotica. Though not as popular today as they once were, Gothic paperbacks retain a cult following, and the books themselves have become collector's items. They were also the first popular novels to present strong heroines as agents of liberation and transformation. This work offers the missing chapters of the Gothic story from the imaginative creations of Ann Radcliffe and the Brontë sisters to the bestseller 50 Shades of Grey.

Travel and Colonialism in 21st Century Romantic Historical Fiction Paloma Fresno-Calleja, Hsu-Ming Teo, 2024-12-16. Romantic fiction has often involved stories of travel. In narratives of the journey towards love, romance often involves encounters with exotic places and peoples. When history is invoked in such stories, the past itself is exoticised and treated as other to the present to serve the purposes of romanticisation, a narrative strategy by which all manner of things, settings, characters, costumes, customs, consumables are made to perform a luxuriant otherness that amplifies the experience of love. This volume questions the reparative function of Anglophone romantic historical fiction to ask: can plots of travel and discourses of tourism empower women while narrating stories of healing for the wounds of the past? This is the first volume to consider how romanticised and exoticised women's historical fiction not only serves the purposes of armchair travel but may also replicate colonial discourse unintentionally, positioning readers as neocolonial, neo-Orientalist cultural voyeurs as well as voyagers.
