World History Jean Caldwell, James Clark, Walter Herscher, 1996 With lessons combining economics and world history students discover how people and nations developed as a result of making decisions based on maximizing local resources

The Status of World History Instruction in American Secondary Schools William E. Pulliam, 1972 The one year course in world history popular in some quarters does not seem to have made much headway High school level courses on world history are one of the many responses to the World Wars yet said courses have never been recommended by a committee of national scope on which there were any historians Opinion surveys among teachers and students indicate that no other part of the typical social studies program is more criticized than the tenth grade level one year elective world history course These courses are increasing in number textbooks are multiplying and a few interesting experiments are being worked out yet there is no general agreement on organization scope objectives teaching strategies or assessment in these courses This document is a summary of historical and recent surveys on curricular trends in social studies with regard to world history to help educators assess what impact they may have on the teaching of world history in the 1970s
