The Sublimity of Document Scott MacDonald, 2019. The Sublimity of Document: Cinema as Diorama is a collection of in-depth substantive interviews with moving image artists working avant doc that is making films that explore the territory between documentary and experimental cinema. The book uses the early history of the museum habitat diorama of animal life, specifically the Hall of African Mammals at the American Museum of Natural History, as a way of rethinking both early and modern cinema, document, and especially those recent filmmakers and films that are devoted to providing viewers with panoramic documentations of places and events that otherwise they might never have opportunities to experience in person. This international collection of 27 interviews follows on MacDonald's earlier Avant Doc: Intersections of Documentary and Avant Garde Cinema (Oxford, 2015). The interviews, organized panoramically within the collection, are dense with information and insight and readable by specialists and non-specialists alike. In most instances, these are the most in-depth and expansive, sometimes the first interviews with these filmmakers. Together, these interviews offer an engaging panorama of the recent history and geography of cinema devoted to documenting the world around us, as well as an in-depth look at the challenges and accomplishments of filmmakers willing to go anywhere on the planet or on the internet to document what they believe we need to see. MacDonald's general introduction provides an overall context for the collection, which includes interviews with Ron Fricke, Gustav Deutsch, Laura Poitras, Fred Wiseman, Nikolaus Geyrhalter, Bill Morrison, Brett Story, Abbas Kiarostami, Lois Pati, o Dominic Gagnon, Erin Espelie, Yance Ford, Janet Biggs, Carlos Adriano, Craig Johnson, Ben Russell, Betzy Bromberg, James Benning, Maxim Pozdorovkin, along with several veterans of Harvard's Sensory Ethnography Lab and with the history museum is a place where the line between high and low culture effectively vanishes where our awe of nature our taste for the bizarre and our thirst for knowledge all blend happily together But as Stephen Asma shows in Stuffed Animals and Pickled Heads there is more going on in these great institutions than just smart fun Asma takes us on a wide ranging tour of natural history museums in New York and Chicago London and Paris interviewing curators scientists and exhibit designers and providing a wealth of fascinating observations We learn how the first museums were little more than high toned side shows with such garish exhibits as the pickled head of Peter the Great s lover In contrast today s museums are hot beds of serious science funding major research in such fields as anthropology and archaeology Rich in detail lucid explanation telling anecdotes and fascinating characters Asma has rendered a fascinating and credible account of how natural history museums are conceived and presented It s the kind of book that will not only engage a wide and diverse readership but it should best of all send them flocking to see how we look at nature and ourselves in those fabulous legacies of the curiosity cabinet The Boston Herald
