Bartholomew-Biggs, 2001-03-14 homepage sac cam na2000 index.html7 Volume Set now available at special set price In one of the papers in this collection the remark that nothing at all takes place in the universe in which some rule of maximum or minimum does not appear is attributed to no less an authority than Euler Simplifying the syntax a little we might paraphrase this as Everything is an optimization problem While this might be something of an overstatement the element of exaggeration is certainly reduced if we consider the extended form Everything is an optimization problem or a system of equations This observation even if only partly true stands as a fitting testimonial to the importance of the work covered by this volume Since the 1960s much effort has gone into the development and application of numerical algorithms for solving problems in the two areas of optimization and systems of equations As a result many different ideas have been proposed for dealing efficiently with for example severe nonlinearities and or very large numbers of variables Libraries of powerful software now embody the most successful of these ideas and one objective of this volume is to assist potential users in choosing appropriate software for the problems they need to solve More generally however these collected review articles are intended to provide both researchers and practitioners with snapshots of the state of the art with regard to algorithms for particular classes of problem These snapshots are meant to have the virtues of immediacy through the inclusion of very recent ideas but they also have sufficient depth of field to show how ideas have developed and how today's research questions have grown out of previous solution attempts The most efficient methods for local optimization both unconstrained and constrained are still derived from the classical Newton approach As well as dealing in depth with the various classical or neo classical approaches the selection of papers on optimization in this volume ensures that newer ideas are also well represented Solving nonlinear algebraic systems of equations is closely related to optimization The two are not completely equivalent however and usually something is lost in the translation Algorithms for nonlinear equations can be roughly classified as locally convergent or globally convergent The characterization is not perfect Locally convergent algorithms include Newton's method modern quasi Newton variants of Newton's method and trust region methods All of these approaches are well represented in this volume Sustainable Development Goal 14 - Life Below Water: Towards a Sustainable Ocean Emanuele Di Lorenzo, Christian Lønborg, Jesper H. Romm, 2025-04-22 For decades we've been promised that a hydrogen economy is just around the corner a high tech Eden in which our cars homes and industries would be powered not by fossil fuels but by hydrogen from pollution free sources After billions in investment hydrogen has failed to live up to these overblown promises Yet it is as hyped as ever a target of media enthusiasm and hefty investment from government and industry Is it time to accept that the fuel of the future may never arrive In 2003 energy expert Joesph J Romm wrote The Hype About Hydrogen to explain why hydrogen wasn't the panacea we were promised and may never be In this newly revised and updated edition Romm builds an even stronger case explaining the barriers hydrogen faces from its inefficiency as an energy carrier to the chicken and egg problem in infrastructure development and the risk of increased global warming from hydrogen leaks and emissions In a series of significant updates Romm breaks down the latest methods of production including green hydrogen hydrogen made with nuclear power geologic hydrogen and blue hydrogen from natural gas with carbon capture and storage CCS laying out the challenges with each He then explores the limitations of suggested applications of hydrogen including e-fuels made with direct air capture of CO₂ hydrogen cars and heating in buildings and industry The Hype About Hydrogen is essential reading for anyone who hopes that hydrogen will be a major solution to the climate crisis The good news We don't need it to be With advancements in renewables and battery technology electrification offers us a path forward that is cleaner safer and can be implemented today Focus on Indonesia, 1967 Lemon-Aid
