15 Careers At Sandf:

From Defence to Development Jacklyn Cock, Penny McKenzie, 1998 Remember the global peace dividend the budget surpluses that were supposed to result from the raising of the Iron Curtain and the end of the arms race As war torn societies in the Middle East Latin America and parts of Africa found peace and began building democratic societies governments were supposed to use the money they once spent on the military to better meet basic human needs But has it happened South Africa's Post-Apartheid Military Lindy Heineken, 2020-01-01 This timely book examines how the South African National Defence Force has adapted to the country's new security political and social environment since 1994 In South Africa's changed political state how has civilian control of the military been implemented and what does this mean for defence in a democracy This book presents an overview of the security environment how the mission focus of the military has changed and the implications for force procurement force preparation force employment and force sustainability The author addresses other issues such as the effect of integrating former revolutionary soldiers into a professional armed force the effect of affirmative action on meritocracy recruitment and retention military veterans looking at the difficulties they face in reintegrating back into society and finding gainful employment gender equality and mainstreaming the rise of military unions and why a confrontational instead of a more corporatist approach to labour relations has emerged HIV AIDS and the consequences this holds for the military in terms of its operational effectiveness In closing the author highlights key events that have caused the SANDF to become lost in transition and transformation spelling out some lessons learned The conclusions she draws are pertinent for the future of defence security and civil military relations of countries around the world This Week in South Africa, 1995 Community Rights, Conservation and Contested Land Fred Nelson, 2010 Natural resource governance is central to the outcomes of biodiversity conservation efforts and to patterns of economic development particularly in resource dependent rural communities The institutional arrangements that define natural resource governance are outcomes of political processes whereby numerous groups with often divergent interests negotiate for access to and control over resources These political processes determine the outcomes of resource governance reform efforts such as widespread attempts to decentralize or devolve greater tenure over land and resources to local communities This volume examines the political dynamics of natural resource governance processes through a range of comparative case studies across east and southern Africa These cases include both local and national settings and examine issues such as land rights tourism development wildlife conservation participatory forest management and the impacts of climate change and are drawn from both academics and field practitioners working across the region Published with IUCN The Bradley Fund for the Environment SASUSG and Norwegian Ministry of Foreign Affairs External Mission Stephen Ellis, 2022-07-15 External Mission helped me understand better how the phenomenon of Jacob Zuma and his main legacy state capture became possible MAX DU PREEZ After the ANC was banned by the apartheid government in 1960 many of its leaders and members were forced to leave the country During the next three decades it had to operate in exile and underground Yet the real history of this period remains shrouded in mystery Some events such as the Rhodesian campaign of 1967 1968 and the Kabwe conference of 1985 are well known but lesser known are the intense factional struggles within the organisation recurring pro democracy protests and the creation of a security apparatus that inspired widespread fear Some networks within the exiled ANC became heavily involved in corruption even colluding with elements of the apartheid security police and secret services External Mission aims to provide a full account of the ANC s years in exile penetrating the secrecy the organisation erected around itself and testing the myths that emerged from that period It is based on an exceptionally wide range of sources including the ANC s own archives and foreign archives such as those in East Germany where the movement s security personnel were trained Incisive and revealing External Mission is key to understanding South Africa today Contemporary Issues in South African Military Psychology Nicole Dodd, Petrus C. Bester, Justin van der Merwe, 2020-05-13 Contemporary Issues in South African Military Psychology is a well timed extremely thought provoking imperative particular to the African context and deals with a highly contemporary issue within the people management and the management studies fields specifically in the military field and context This is specifically of importance as military psychology is a behavioural science that combines theory and practical application Prof Karel Stanz University of Pretoria Making Peace with Your Enemy Lætitia Bucaille, 2019-06-14 Reconciliation between political antagonists who went to war against each other is not a natural process Hostility toward an enemy only slowly abates and the political resolution of a conflict is not necessarily followed by the immediate pacification of society and reconciliation among individuals Under what conditions can a combatant be brought to understand the motivations of his enemies consider them as equals and develop a new relationship going so far as to even forgive them By comparing the experiences of veterans of the South African and Franco Algerian conflicts Laetitia Bucaille seeks to answer this question She begins by putting the postconflict and postcolonial order that characterizes South Africa France and Algeria into perspective examining how each country provided symbolic and material rewards to the veterans and how past conflict continues to shape the present Exploring the narratives of ex combatants Bucaille also fosters an understanding of their intimate experiences as well as their emotions of pride loss and guilt In its comparative analysis of South Africa and Algeria Making Peace with Your Enemy reveals a paradox In Algeria the rhetoric of the regime is characterized by resentment toward colonizing France but relations between individuals Reconciliation are warm However in South Africa democratization was based on official reconciliation but distance and wariness between whites and blacks prevail Despite these differences Bucaille argues South African Algerian and French ex adversaries face a similar challenge how to extricate oneself from colonial domination and the violence of war in order to build relationships based on trust

Cultural Diversity in the Armed Forces Joseph L. Soeters, Jan Van der Meulen, 2007-01-24 This book addresses the different ways in which armed forces around the world respond to the cultural diversity of their parent societies ethnicity and gender in particular in order to enhance their quality and legitimacy State Security in South Africa James Michael Roherty, 1992 This work is a study of civil military relations in the Republic of South Africa while Pieter Willem Botha was prime minister 1978-89 The author's controversial thesis is that Prime Minister Botha recognizing that his country had reached the historical juncture when it needed to establish a new political order encompassing all of its diverse peoples moved effectively to prepare the ground for fundamental constitutional change What was needed above all were stabilization measures to assure the support of the white population for reform Botha used the South African defence force as his primary instrument By 1989 Professor Roherty maintains a striking degree of stabilization had been achieved within the country and throughout South Africa and the groundwork for epochal change had been prepared The author makes use of exclusive interviews with South Africans from the political military intelligence corporate and academic worlds The South African National Defence Force (SANDF) and President Mbeki's Peace and Security Agenda Garth Shelton, 2004
