

A wide-angle photograph of the Rhodes University campus. On the left, a tall, light-colored stone clock tower with a clock face stands prominently. The foreground is a large, well-maintained green lawn. In the background, there are more campus buildings with red-tiled roofs and green roofs, surrounded by lush green trees. The sky is blue with some white clouds. The text "RHODES UNIVERSITY" is overlaid at the top in a dark red serif font.

New Perspectives on African Childhood

De-Valera N.Y.M. Botchway,Awo Sarpong,Charles Quist-Adade,2019-03-05 What does it mean to be a child in Africa In the detached Western media narratives of penury wickedness and death have dominated portrayals of African childhood The hegemonic lens of the West has failed to take into account the intricacies of not only what it means to be an African child in local and culturally specific contexts but also African childhood in general Challenging colonial discourses this edited volume guides the reader through different comprehensions and perspectives of childhood in Africa Using a blend of theory empiricism and history the contributors to this volume offer studies from a range of fields including African literature Afro centric psychology and sociology Importantly in its eclectic geographical coverage of Africa this book unashamedly presents the good the bad and the ugly of African childhood The resilience creativity pains and triumphs of African childhood are skilfully woven together to present the myriad of lived experiences and aspirations of children from across Africa As an important contribution to African childhood studies this book has the potential to be used by policymakers to shape sustain or change socio cultural economic and education systems that accommodate African childhood dynamics and experiences at different levels

Designing and Teaching Undergraduate Capstone Courses Robert C. Hauhart,Jon E. Grahe,2015-01-12 Enrich your students and the institution with a high impact practice Designing and Teaching Undergraduate Capstone Courses is a practical research backed guide to creating a course that is valuable for both the student and the school The book covers the design administration and teaching of capstone courses throughout the undergraduate curriculum guiding departments seeking to add a capstone course and allowing those who have one to compare it to others in the discipline The ideas presented in the book are supported by regional and national surveys that help the reader understand what s common what s exceptional what works and what doesn t within capstone courses The authors also provide additional information specific to different departments across the curriculum including STEM social sciences humanities fine arts education and professional programs Identified as a high impact practice by the National Survey of Student Engagement NSSE and the Association of American Colleges and Universities LEAP initiative capstone courses culminate a student s final college years in a project that integrates and applies what they ve learned The project takes the form of a research paper a performance a portfolio or an exhibit and is intended to showcase the student s very best work as a graduating senior This book is a guide to creating for your school or department a capstone course that ties together undergraduate learning in a way that enriches the student and adds value to the college experience Understand what makes capstone courses valuable for graduating students Discover the factors that make a capstone course effective and compare existing programs both within academic disciplines and across institutions Learn administrative and pedagogical techniques that increase the course's success Examine discipline specific considerations for design administration and instruction Capstones are generally offered in departmental programs but are becoming increasingly common in general education as well Faculty and administrators looking to add a capstone course or revive an existing one need to understand what constitutes an effective program Designing and Teaching Undergraduate Capstone Courses provides an easily digested summary of existing research and offers expert guidance on making your capstone course successful

Education Abroad and the Undergraduate Experience Elizabeth Brewer, Anthony C. Ogden, 2023-07-03 Co published with This volume focuses on two questions First how can education abroad be embedded into undergraduate education so that students experience it as an integral component of their education and something they help shape rather than as time away from their education and as a commodity to be consumed Second how can colleges and universities maximize the educational value of education abroad by forging stronger connections between it and other undergraduate experiences The volume argues that learning abroad be positioned within the work of the larger institution and students overall education Organized within three sections this volume makes the case that learning abroad must be positioned within the work of the larger institution and students overall education In doing so it questions many current assumptions and stimulates thinking about the power of an integrative approach to education abroad to lead to lasting educative value An integrative approach requires that students be afforded multiple opportunities and ongoing support to draw connections with their learning abroad with other dimensions of their undergraduate education Chapters cover topics such as the additive value of integrating multiple HIPs with education abroad to span disciplinary boundaries and promote an array of soft or operational skills the importance of maintaining the disruptive quality of the encounter with the foreign to enrich study at home issues of commodification and reciprocity increasing access to study abroad to community college particularly adult populations facilitating students social and intellectual development identity formation and reflective practice rethinking orientation programming to emphasize the continuity of learning pre during and post education abroad asking fundamental questions about the purpose of education abroad to rethink assessment and its purposes the faculty role in the internationalization of the curriculum and developing more intentional relationships with in field partners and international educational organizations to more effectively connect learning abroad with other dimensions of undergraduate education For everyone involved in international education whether SIOs faculty department chairs or deans the critical questions and new perspectives offered here will inform and shape the growing movement to integrate education abroad with the overall undergraduate experience

Pushing Boundaries in Postgraduate Supervision Eli Bitzer, Ruth Albertyn, Liezel Frick, Barbara Grant, Frances Kelly, 2014-04-01 This book is a very important contribution to the growing body of work on postgraduate and specifically doctoral education. I find the metaphor of pushing boundaries to be very appropriate as it suggests a field of study and a range of behaviours and institutional organisational approaches to postgraduate education that are dynamic and characterised by fluidity creativity and challenge. Readers will gain new theoretical perspectives ideas for improved practice and fresh perspectives on boundaries and pressing issues that deserve to be pushed and conceptualised in new ways. Professor Ann Austin Higher Adult and Lifelong Education Michigan State University

Multilingual Universities in South Africa Liesel Hibbert, Christa van der Walt, 2014-04-03 Focusing on the use of African languages in higher education this book showcases South African higher education practitioners attempts to promote a multilingual ethos in their classes. It is a first time overview of multilingual teaching and learning strategies that have been tried and tested in a number of higher education institutions in South Africa. Despite language in education policies that extol the virtues of multilingualism practice remains oriented towards English only learning and teaching. In the multilingual contexts of local campuses this book shows how students and lecturers attempt to understand their multiple identities and use the available languages to create multilingual learning environments.

The Place and the Writer Marshall Moore, Sam Meekings, 2021-04-08 The combined experience of authors throughout the ages offers a wealth of valuable information about the practice of creative writing. However such lore can also be problematic for students and practitioners as it can be inherently additive making it difficult to abandon processes that do not work. This adherence to lore also tends to be a US centric endeavor. In order to take a nuanced approach to the uses and limitations of lore The Place and the Writer offers a global perspective on creative writing pedagogy that has yet to be fully explored. Featuring a diverse array of cultural viewpoints from Brazil to Hong Kong Finland to South Africa this book explores the ongoing international debate about the best approaches for teaching and practicing creative writing. Marshall Moore and Sam Meekings challenge areas of perceived wisdom that persist in the field of creative writing including aesthetics and politics in institutionalized creative writing the process of workshopping tuition and talent anxiety in the classroom unifying theory and lore and teaching creative writing in languages other than English.

Revisiting EFL Assessment Rahma Al-Mahrooqi, Christine Coombe, Faisal Al-Maamari, Vijay Thakur, 2017-01-10 This book examines acknowledged practices and demonstrates to teachers how to make the most out of their assessment practices It also explores different assessment methods for skills such as reading writing listening and speaking Forecasting the future of assessment and where concepts like alternative assessment and dynamic assessment are heading it also shows how relatively new teaching methods such as communicative methodologies and problem based learning are reflected in assessment This book represents a forum where contributors have presented their research and innovative ideas and practices on the important topic of assessment and opened a fresh debate on it It offers an excellent reference guide for EFL teachers practitioners researchers and testing and assessment specialists Each chapter examines central issues in assessment and their connection with teaching and learning in EFL contexts
