Barnhouse, 2014 Every teacher wants and expects his or her students to be reading increasingly complex texts yet sometimes the gap between our expectations and our students abilities seems wide and deep It s tempting to look at that gap and step in to fill it for them but then we d be doing most of the heavy lifting the understanding analysis and interpretation that our students should be learning for themselves So how can teachers reverse this trend and ensure that our students are fully entering absorbing and experiencing texts How can we make sure they're making complex meaning independently and proficiently as the Common Core State Standards require. Readers Front Center answers these questions by framing instruction that starts with the student. You'll learn how to do the following:

- Research and listen to your students so your teaching can be more targeted.
- Notice and name your students' thinking so they can see what complex thinking looks and sounds like.
- Set your students up to be problem solvers.
- Prepare your students to do increasingly complex thinking in increasingly complex texts.

Filled with examples of one-on-one conferences, small groups, and whole class scenarios, this essential book provides an accessible and inspiring model of how and why we need to put students at the front and center of our teaching.

Behavioral and Physiological Bases of Attentional Biases: Paradigms, Participants, and Stimuli Daniela M. Pfabigan, Ulrich S. Tran, 2015-08-21

Attentional biases (ABs) play a prominent role in the development and maintenance of clinically relevant symptoms of, for example, anxiety and depression. In particular, increased attentional orienting and preoccupation with biologically relevant and mood congruent stimuli has been observed, suggesting that the visual attentional system is overly sensitive towards threat cues and avoidant of cues of reward in these disorders. First, several experimental paradigms have been used to assess ABs, e.g., the dot probe task, the emotional Stroop task, and the spatial cueing task, amongst others. Yet these paradigms are based on different theoretical backgrounds and target different stages of the attentional process. Thus, different paradigms provided converging as well as diverging evidence with regard to ABs. However, it is often not entirely clear to what extent this reflects real differences and commonalities or is caused by differences in methodology. For example, behavioral reaction time data can only provide a snapshot of selective attention. Measuring event-related potentials, eye movements, or functional brain imaging data enables exploring the exact temporal and spatial dynamics of attentional processes. Moreover, neuroimaging data reveal specific cortical networks involved in directing attention toward a stimulus or disengaging from it. Second, ABs have been mainly discussed as symptoms of psychopathology, while results in healthy participants are still scarce. Previous studies mostly compared extreme groups. However, a comprehensive theoretical and empirical account of ABs in psychopathology also requires a thorough account of ABs in the general healthy population. Moreover, the effect of gender as an important contributing factor in processing of emotional stimuli has also not been considered systematically in previous research. Third, a variety of stimuli has been used in the assessment of ABs. So far, mostly facial or word stimuli have been applied. However, in everyday life, not only facial emotion recognition but also a fast evaluation of complex social situations is important to be effective in social interactions. Recent research started using more complex stimuli to raise ecological validity. However, the use of ecologically valid stimuli poses some methodological challenges and needs to be applied more systematically. The aim of this research topic is to integrate different paradigms and stimuli, addressing individuals from the whole range of the population continuum, and to apply different methodological approaches. It is intended to bring together expertise in stimulus selection, timing, and implementing issues, advancing and broadening the overall understanding of ABs.

Inclusive Texts in Elementary Classrooms Amy J.

Heineke, Aimee Papola-Ellis, 2022 Learn how to put children's diverse and storied experiences at the center of the curriculum. Schools are more diverse than ever before but the texts and materials that typify classroom curricula continue to prioritize so-called mainstream stories and perspectives. These canonical texts often exclude the nuanced identities and rich lived experiences of the very children sitting in today's classrooms. But kids thrive when they see themselves in texts and learn about the world around them by connecting with the experiences of others. Based on the authors' work with elementary school teachers over the last decade, this resource offers strategies for moving away from canonical texts. The authors present a four-part framework for selecting, using, and engaging students with texts that promote children's identity development, literacy engagement, and comprehension and learning across the content areas. The practical text provides guidance for setting learning goals that align with relevant standards and curricular directives as well as classroom examples, teaching strategies, and reflective questions. Book Features: An actionable way for teachers to move from theory to practice using what we know about culturally relevant practice and critical literacy to create instruction that enhances children's classroom experiences and learning. An inclusive and intersectional approach that supports all teachers in enhancing their classroom libraries and curricular resources for the benefit of all students. Specific ideas for texts and authors as well as more generalizable themes and ideas that will guide future exploration and use of texts in classrooms. Tangible strategies and rich classroom examples from 20 expert teachers spanning diverse elementary school settings. Reflective questions to help practitioners personalize the content to their own contexts. Baetulo: marques i terrisseries d'àmfores, 2025-10-08

The Exoplanet Handbook Michael Perryman, 2018-08-30 A complete and in-depth review of exoplanet research covering the discovery methods, physics, and theoretical background. Jahrbuch für Liturgik und Hymnologie Andreas Marti, Ada Kadelbach, Irmgard Scheitler, Jörg Neijenhuis, Matthias Schneider, Alexander Deeg, Michael Meyer-Blanck, Helmut Schwier, Liturgiewissenschaftliches Institut der VELKD, 2013-11-07 Der liturgische Teil trägt Beobachtungen zur Widerzulassung der vorkonziliaren Messe in der Römisch-katholischen Kirche zusammen und fragt, ob damit die Messopferproblematik wieder zur Diskussion gestellt wird. Ein weiterer Beitrag informiert über historische Perikopenordnungen. Die EDK, die VELKD und die UEK planen bis zum Reformationsjubiläum 2017 eine Revision der Perikopenordnung zu veröffentlichen. Ein weiterer Beitrag stellt einen neuen Quellenfund zur Nürnberger deutschen Messe von 1542 des Wolfgang Volprecht vor und vergleicht diese Handschrift mit den bereits bekannten Quellen. Die hymnologischen Beiträge listen die geistlichen Gedichte von Johann Rist mit ihren Quellen und Vertonungen auf und berichten über die Ausstellung zur thüringischen Gesangbuchgeschichte vom vergangenen Jahr in Gotha. Eine umfangreiche Darstellung des griechisch-byzantinischen liturgischen Gesangs weitet zudem den Blick über das bisherige Arbeitsgebiet der deutschsprachigen Hymnologie hinaus. Sie zeigt im Detail, auf wie bei dieser Art des liturgischen Singens der Text in seiner geistlichen Bedeutung zur Geltung kommt. Perception and Cognition: Interactions in the Aging Brain Harriet A.

Allen, Katherine L. Roberts, 2016-09-13 Healthy ageing can lead to declines in both perceptual and cognitive functions. Impaired perception such as that resulting from hearing loss or reduced visual or tactile resolution increases demands on higher level cognitive functions to cope or compensate. It is possible for example to use focused attention to overcome perceptual limitations. Unfortunately cognitive functions also decline in old age. This can mean that perceptual impairments are exacerbated by cognitive decline and vice versa but also means that interventions aimed at one type of decline can lead to improvements in the other. Just as improved cognition can ameliorate perceptual deficits improving the stimulus can help offset cognitive deficits. For example making directions and routes easy to follow can help compensate for declines in navigation abilities. In this Topic we bring together papers from both auditory and visual researchers that address the interaction between perception and cognition in the ageing brain. Many of the studies demonstrate that a broadening of representations or increased reliance on gist underlie perceptual and cognitive age related declines. There is also clear evidence that impaired perception is associated with poor cognition although encouragingly it can also be seen that good perception is associated with better cognition. Compensatory cognitive strategies were less successful in improving perception than might be expected. We also present papers which highlight important methodological considerations that are required when studying the older brain.
