Mergent International Manual, 2009 Game-Based Assessment Revisited Dirk Ifenthaler, Yoon Jeon Kim, 2019-11-05

The capabilities and possibilities of emerging game based learning technologies bring about a new perspective of learning and instruction. This in turn necessitates alternative ways to assess the kinds of learning that are taking place in the game based environments. The field has been broadening the focus of assessment in game environments i.e. what we measure, developing processes and methodologies that go beyond psychometrics practices i.e. how we go about assessment in games and implementing the game based assessment GBA in real contexts. The current state of the field calls for a revisit of this topic to understand what we have learned from the research on this topic and how the GBA work changed how the field thinks about assessment beyond game environments. Accordingly, this comprehensive volume covers the current state of research methodology and technology of game based assessment. It features four major themes: what we are measuring in games, how GBA has influenced how people do assessment beyond games, new methods and practices and implementations of GBA. The audience for this volume includes researchers, graduate students, teachers and professional practitioners in the areas of education, instructional design, educational psychology, academic and organizational development and instructional technology.

Children's Exercise Physiology Filipe Manuel Clemente, Luca Paolo Ardigo, Wook Song, Matthieu E. M. Lenoir, Luis Paulo Rodrigues, Hermundur Sigmundsson, 2020-06-22 Molecular Genetics and Emerging Therapies for Epithelial Ovarian Cancer: Basic Research and Clinical Perspectives Stergios Boussios, Eleftherios Pierre Samartzis, Nicholas Pavlidis, J. Alejandro Perez-Fidalgo, 2023-11-06. Epithelial ovarian cancer (EOC) is the most lethal gynecological disorder due to a lack of effective early detection strategies. Worldwide, approximately 230,000 women are diagnosed annually, whereas 150,000 die. It represents the seventh most commonly diagnosed cancer among women in the world, with a 5-year survival rate of 46%. More than one fifth of EOC have been related to hereditary conditions. Considerable efforts have been made to implement screening of the general population to diagnose EOC early; nevertheless, this has been ineffective, and there is no approved strategy. Nowadays, new approaches for early diagnosis and prevention based on molecular genomics are in development. Whole genome sequencing has established the potency of the somatic genome characterised with diverse DNA repair deficiencies that can be used to stratify EOCs into distinct biological groups with predictive signatures of resistance or relapse. The incorporation of next generation sequencing (NGS) into clinical practice remains challenging for two reasons. Firstly, the EOC risk is not clear for some of the included genes, and secondly, the variant of uncertain significance rates increase as more genes are analyzed. Finally, beyond germline pathogenic variants, somatic mutations may also affect therapeutic choices, and as such, upfront tumor sequencing may be equally important to NGS, particularly as we continue to challenge treatment paradigms in the first line management of EOC.
