The Irrational Mind Spencer J. Fraseur, 2020-10-12 Having an understanding of the human mind and how it functions is probably the single most important thing anyone who wants to be successful can do We make thousands of decisions every day In fact research suggests that an adult brain makes on average about 35 000 remotely conscious decisions on a daily basis When we were younger choices were most likely simple As we get older our level of responsibility increases and so does the amount of choices that we are faced with on a daily basis With ever increasing choices and responsibility at least our decision making process stays the same right In actuality our decision making process is broken It s warped and sometimes even shattered by cognitive bias Why are we so afraid of sharks or plane crashes yet continue to do far more dangerous things Why do we instinctively look for patterns to inform our decision making and bring meaning to our world Why can t we listen to reason when we need it most Join Spencer Fraseur through a journey of real stories of flawed logic and bad behavior in business and in life to discover what can be done to overcome the hidden forces that impact our everyday decisions

Halvorson,2015-03-24 Achieve authenticity Have you ever felt you re not getting through to the person you re talking to or not coming across the way you intend You re not alone That s the bad news But there is something we can do about it Heidi Grant Halvorson social psychologist and bestselling author explains why we re often misunderstood and how we can fix that Most of us assume that other people see us as we see ourselves and that they see us as we truly are But neither is true Our everyday interactions are colored by subtle biases that distort how others see us and also shape our perceptions of them You can learn to clarify the message you re sending once you understand the lenses that shape perception Trust Are you friend or foe Power How much influence do you have over me Ego Do you make me feel insecure Based on decades of research in psychology and social science Halvorson explains how these lenses affect our interactions and how to manage them Once you understand the science of perception you ll communicate more clearly send the messages you intend to send and improve your personal relationships You ll also become a fairer and more accurate judge of others Halvorson even offers an evidence based action plan for repairing a damaged reputation This book is not about making a good impression although it will certainly help you do that It s about coming across as you intend It s about the authenticity we all strive for

Reinforcements Heidi Grant,2018-06-12 Humans have a natural instinct to help others Imagine walking up to a stranger on the subway and asking them for their seat What about asking a random person on the street if you could borrow their phone If the idea makes you squeamish you re not alone social psychologists have found that doing these very things makes most of us almost unbearably uncomfortable But here s the funny thing even though we hate to ask for help most people are wired to be helpful And that s a good thing because every day in the modern uber collaborative workplace we all need to know when and how to call in the cavalry However asking people for help isn't intuitive in fact a lot of our instincts are wrong As a result we do a poor job of calling in the reinforcements we need leaving confused or even offended colleagues in our wake This pragmatic book explains how to get it right With humor insight and engaging storytelling Heidi Grant PhD describes how to elicit helpful behavior from your friends family and colleagues in a way that leaves them feeling genuinely happy to lend a hand Whether you're a first time manager or a seasoned leader getting people to pitch in is what leadership is Fortunately people have a natural instinct to help other human beings you just need to know how to channel this urge into what it is you specifically need them to do It's not manipulation It's just management Selling Power ,2007
