Anita And Me:

Collins Readers Anita and Me Meera Syal, 2010 It's 1972 Meena is nine years old and lives in the village of Tollington the jewel of the Black Country She is the daughter of Indian parents who have come to England to give her a better life As one of the few Punjabi inhabitants of her village her daily struggle for independence is different from most She wants fishfingers and chips not chapati and dhal she wants an English Christmas not the usual interminable Punjabi festivities but more than anything she wants to roam the backyards of working class Tollington with feisty Anita Rutter and her gang

Anita and Me Meera Syal, 2016-04-26 This poignant coming of age tale follows Meena a young girl growing up in the only Punjabi family in a 1970s Black Country mining village Meena spends her days happily getting into scrapes with the other local children until one day the impossibly cool Anita enters her life Suddenly Meena knows exactly who she wants to be but is Anita all that she seems Soon Meena's world is turned upside down as she is caught between two very different cultures Anita and Me paints a comic poignant compassionate and colourful portrait of village life in the era of flares power cuts glam rock decimalisation and Ted Heath It has been adapted for the stage by the multi award winning Tanika Gupta

Unreliable Truths Sissy Helff, 2013 While many people see home as the domestic sphere and place of belonging it is hard to grasp its manifold implications and even harder to provide a tidy definition of what it is Over the past century discussion of home and nation has been a highly complex matter with broad political ramifications including the realignment of nation states and national boundaries Against this backdrop this book suggests that home is constructed on the assumption that what it defines is constantly in flux and thus can never capture an objective perspective an ultimate truth Along these lines Unreliable Truths offers a comparative literary approach to the construction of home and concomitant notions of uncertainty and unreliable narration in South Asian diasporic women's literature from the UK Australia South Africa the Caribbean North America and Canada Writers discussed in detail include Feroza Jussawalla Suneeta Peres da Costa Meera Syal Farida Karodia Shani Mootoo Shobha D and Oonya Kempadoo With its focus on transcultural homes Unreliable Truths goes beyond discussions of diaspora from an established postcolonial point of view and contributes with its investigation of transcultural unreliable narration to the representation of a global South Asian diaspora

Patrons of Women Esther Hertzog, 2011-05-01 Assuming that women's empowerment would accelerate the pace of social change in rural Nepal the World Bank urged the Nepali government to undertake a Gender Activities Project within an ongoing long term water engineering scheme The author an anthropologist specializing in bureaucratic organizations and gender studies was hired to monitor the project Analyzing her own experience as a practicing development expert she demonstrates that the professed goal of women s empowerment is a pretext for promoting economic organizational goals and the interests of local elites She shows how a project intended to benefit women through teaching them literary and agricultural skills fails to provide them with any of the promised resources Going beyond the conventional analysis that positions aid givers vis vis powerless victimized recipients she draws attention to the complexity of the process and the active role played by the Nepalese rural women who pursue their own interests and aspirations within this unequal world The book makes an important contribution to the growing critique of development projects and of women s development projects in particular

Performing Identities and Utopias of Belonging Teresa Botelho,Iolanda Ramos,2014-07-08 Performing Identities and Utopias of Belonging consists of sixteen essays reflecting the current conflicted debate on the ontology constructiveness and affect of categories of ascribed social identity such as gender ethnicity race and nation in the context of British Irish and North American cultural landscapes They address the many ways in which these communities of belonging are imagined iterated performed questioned and deconstructed in literature cinema and visual culture they also support or counter claims about the enhanced value of social identity in the expression of the self in the light of the present debates that surround the contested post identity turn in cultural studies Significantly they also address the role of social identity in the field of utopian and dystopian thought focusing on the projection of imagined futures where alternative means of conceiving ascribed identity are conceptualized The contributions are shaped by a plurality of approaches and theoretical discourses and come from both established and emerging scholars and researchers from Europe and beyond The collection is structured in three sections the politics of un belonging deconstructing utopian and cultural paradigms and performing identities in the visual arts which organize the multidisciplinary discussions around specific nuclei of interrogations
