Reaction EnergySECTION 1

Write a balanced chemical equation for the following reactions in the space provided.

- For elements in their standard state, the value of ΔH_f° is _____.
- The formation and decomposition of a substance is represented by the following thermodynamic equations:

- Is the energy being added to or is it being subtracted from the decomposition?
- What is the correct sign for the enthalpy change in this decomposition reaction?

Write the correct answer in the space to the left. Show all your work in the space provided.

- _____ $\Delta H_{\text{f}}^\circ$ for a reaction is 2074°C whereas a 4.30 mol of substance reacts with the decomposition for?
- _____ A substance has a specific heat of $0.001 \text{ J/g}^\circ\text{C}$. If a 10.0 g sample undergoes a 1°C increase in temperature, how much heat is absorbed? Show all work.
- The product is a molecular form of substance, and the substance has an enthalpy of 1000 kJ/mol .

Crabtree, 2013-02-19 Energy production and storage are central problems for our time In principle abundant energy is available from the sun to run the earth in a sustainable way Solar energy can be directly harnessed by agricultural and photovoltaic means but the sheer scale of the energy demand poses severe challenges for example any major competition between biomass production and food production would simply transfer scarcity from energy to food Indirect use of solar energy in the form of wind looks also promising especially for those regions not blessed with abundant sunlight Other modes such as tidal and wave energy may well become important niche players Inorganic chemistry plays a decisive role in the development of new energy technologies and this Volume covers some promising modes of alternative energy production and storage that minimize the atmospheric burden of fossil derived carbon monoxide No one production or storage mode is likely to dominate at least at first and numerous possibilities need to be explored to compare their technical feasibility and economics This provides the context for a broad exploration of novel ideas that we are likely to see in future years as the field expands This Volume covers a wide range of topics such as Water splitting only water is a
