Sustainable Communities Hugh Barton, 2013-12-02 This book re addresses the concepts of neighbourhood and community in a refreshing and challenging way It will be of immense benefit not only to town planners but also to all those professional and voluntary groups and politicians who seek to create the new communities of tomorrow From the Foreword by Jed Griffiths Past President of the Royal Town Planning Institute There is widespread support for the principle of creating more sustainable communities but much hazy wishful thinking about what this might mean in practice In reality we witness more the death of local neighbourhoods than their creation or rejuvenation reflecting an increasingly mobile privatized and commodified society Sustainable Communities examines the practicalities of re inventing neighbourhoods It is neither an idealistic utopian tract nor a designer s manual but is rather a serious attempt to address the real issues This collection of expert contributions examines the nature of local community and methods of building social capital presents the findings of a world wide survey of eco neighbourhoods and eco villages with case studies from the United Kingdom Europe America and Australia develops a fresh perspective on the planning and design of neighbourhoods in urban areas based on the eco system approach explores practical programmes for local resource management and the implications for community based decision making provides a detailed appendix listing current eco village and eco neighbourhood schemes by country Written by an interdisciplinary team of social and environmental scientists town planners and urban designers this is a thought provoking and important contribution to both the theory and practice of the development of sustainable communities

Politics of Urban Knowledge Bert De Munck, Jens Lachmund, 2023-03-23 This book uses politics of urban knowledge as a lens to understand how professionals administrations scholars and social movements have surveyed evaluated and theorized the city identified problems and shaped and legitimized practical interventions in planning and administration Urbanization has been accompanied and partly shaped by the formation of the city as a distinct domain of knowledge This volume uses politics of urban knowledge as a lens to develop a new perspective on urban history and urban planning history Through case studies of mainly 19th and 20th century examples the book demonstrates that urban knowledge is not simply a neutral means to represent cities as pre existing entities but rather the outcome of historically contingent processes and practices of urban actors addressing urban issues and the power relations in which they are embedded It shows how urban knowledge making has reshaped the categories rationales and techniques through which urban spaces were produced governed and contested and how the knowledge concerned became performative of newly emerging urban orders The volume will be of interest to scholars and students in the field of urban history and urban studies as well as the history of technology science and knowledge and of science studies

Urbanormativity Alexander R. Thomas, Gregory M. Fulkerson, 2013-12-19 The world has been witnessing a long unfolding process of urbanization that not only has altered the structural basis of society in terms of political economy but has also symbolically relegated rural people and life to a secondary or deviant status through an ideology of urbanormativity Both structural and cultural changes rooted in urbanization are connected in complex ways to spatial arrangements that can be described in terms of inequality and uneven development Through a focus on localities Studies in Urbanormativity Rural Community in Urban Society examines the implications of urbanization and its corresponding ideology Urbanormativity justifies rural domination by holding urban life as the standard against which rural forms are compared and deemed to be irregular inferior or deviant Urban production as conceptualized in this book is inherently exploitative of rural resources natural social cultural and symbolic As this exploitation advances a wake of entropic conditions is left behind in the forms of degraded landscapes broken social institutions and denigrated communities cultures and identities Edited by Gregory M Fulkerson and Alexander R Thomas Studies in Urbanormativity engages a topic on which scholars have been surprisingly silent Designed for advancing theory and practice the chapters provide new theoretical tools for understanding the complex relationship between the urban and rural While primarily intended for scholars and practitioners interested in rural life rural policy and community development the insights of this book will also be of interest to scholars studying various forms of cultural and social domination as well as identity politics Fast Forward Torry D. Dickinson, Robert K. Schaeffer, 2001 This innovative global feminist analysis of work and politics examines the diverse problems and related protests of women and men who labor to make ends meet in a rapidly changing world Using vivid examples from around the world it reveals how globalization is reshaping social institutions and lives Fast Forward explores how businesses and states reshaped and redistributed work around the world during the last 30 years of globalization often with adverse consequences Within this fast moving context laboring people today engage in work outside of formal employment try to obtain survival resources mount a diverse array of often women centered protests against firms and states and try on their own terms to reinvent work and democratic political practices Portraying the human face of global change Fast Forward shows how overlapping social movements wrestle with economic and political marginalization and initiate highly diverse but related attempts to change the way the world works
