Nullifying God H. Robert Wilson Ph.D., 2018-01-01 Evolution and Creation are in a spiritual battle Evolution scientists ignore dismiss and unequivocally reject Creation out of hand It is not science or fact as evolution is they say However Nullifying God shows that random Darwinian evolution does not have the direct evidence required to support the claim Not only that but it provides contrary evidence that evolution is biologically impossible Because that is the case evolution can only persist in the unchallengeable authority it needs to maintain its position by actively attempting to nullify its alternative Creation and therefore the Bible and God Nullifying God was especially written to empower and benefit believers who are not familiar with science to show them that evolution cannot be fact and is not science It does so by 1 providing them with a core foundation of applied science principles to rationally question evolution's claims then 2 guiding them into solid clear knowledge of why evolution is biologically impossible and finally 3 presenting them with examples that document evolution's attempts to nullify God. The bottom line is Biblical Creation is the only answer that explains life.

Recent Advances in $\gamma\delta$ T Cell Biology: New Ligands, New Functions, and New Translational Perspectives Dieter Kabelitz, Julie Dechanet-Merville, 2016-02-16

Gamma delta T cells are a small subset of T lymphocytes in the peripheral circulation but constitute a major T cell population at other anatomical localizations such as the epithelial tissues. In contrast to conventional T cells, the available number of germline genes coding for T cell receptor (TCR) variable elements of T cells is very small. Moreover, there is a preferential localization of T cells expressing given Vgamma and Vdelta genes in certain tissues. In humans, T cells expressing the Vg9Vd2 encoded TCR account for anywhere between 50 and 95% of peripheral blood T cells, whereas cells expressing non Vd2 genes dominate in mucosal tissues. In mice, there is an ordered appearance of T cell waves during embryonic development, resulting in preferential localization of T cells expressing distinct VgammaVdelta genes in the skin, the reproductive organs, or gut epithelia. The major function of T cells resides in local immunosurveillance and immune defense against infection and malignancy. This is supported by the identification of ligands that are selectively recognized by the TCR. As an example, human Vgamma9Vdelta2 T cells recognize phosphorylated metabolites (phosphoantigens) that are secreted by many pathogens but can also be overproduced by tumor cells, providing a basis for a role of these T cells in both anti-infective and anti-tumor immunity. Similarly, the recognition of endothelial protein C receptor by human non Vdelta2 T cells has recently been identified to provide a link for the role for such T cells in immunity against epithelial tumor cells and cytomegalovirus-infected endothelial cells. In addition to classical functions such as cytokine production and cytotoxicity, recent studies suggest that subsets of T cells can exert additional functions such as regulatory activity and quite surprisingly, professional antigen-presenting capacity. It is currently not well known how this tremendous extent of functional plasticity is regulated and what is the extent of TCR ligand diversity. Due to their non-MHC-restricted recognition of unusual stress-associated ligands, T cells have raised great interest as to their potential translational application in cell-based immunotherapy. Topics of this Research Focus include: Molecular insights into the activation and differentiation requirements of T cells; role of pyrophosphates and butyrophilin molecules for the activation of human T cells; role of T cells in tumor immunity and in other infectious and non-infectious diseases and many others. We are most grateful to all colleagues who agreed to write a manuscript. Thanks to their contributions, this E-book presents an up-to-date overview on many facets of the still exciting T cells.
