Victims Before the International Criminal Court Christoph Safferling,Gurgen Petrossian,2021-09-16 The book analyses the difficulties the International Criminal Court faces with the definition of those persons who are eligible for participating in the proceedings Establishing justice for victims is one of the most important aims of the court It therefore created a unique system of victim participation Since its first trial the court struggles to live up to the expectancies its statute has generated The book offers a new approach of how to define victimhood by looking at the different international crimes It seeks to offer guidance for the right to participate in the different stages of the proceedings by looking at the practice in national jurisdictions Lastly the book offers insights into the functioning of the reparation regime at the ICC by virtue of the Trust Fund for Victim and its different mandates The critical analysis of the ICC practice with regard to definition participation and reparation aims at promoting a realistic approach which will avoid the disappointing of expectations and thus help to enhance the acceptance of the ICC Child Soldiers and the Defence of Duress under International Criminal Law Windell Nortje,Noëlle Quéniwet,2019-07-05 This book investigates the use of duress as a defence in international criminal law specifically in cases of child soldiers The prosecution of children for international crimes often only focuses on whether children can and should be prosecuted under international law. However, it is rarely considered what would happen to these children at the trial stage. This work offers a nuanced approach towards international prosecution and considers how children could be implicated and defended in international courts. This study will be of interest to academics and practitioners working in international criminal law, transitional justice, and children's rights.
