... Statistical Abstract , The Fires Beneath Seán Morrow, 2016-06-01 The life of Monica Wilson is a story of groundbreaking scholarship passionate creativity and personal tragedy during South Africa's bitter and divided twentieth century As a young anthropologist in the 1930s Monica immersed herself in the lives work and beliefs of African communities in southern and East Africa while carefully observing the effects of historical change At the core of her existence was her intellectual collaboration and intense personal relationship with her husband the brilliant but clinically depressive Godfrey Wilson who took his own life in 1944 After Godfrey's death Monica raised their two children and built a career as a leading academic at Fort Hare Rhodes University College and the University of Cape Town In a political environment where black academics were under constant threat and ideas were censored she outspokenly advocated racial equality and freedom of speech her publications emphasising a common South African identity and implicitly challenging apartheid separate development This fascinating biography moves between the Eastern Cape Cambridge Tanganyika Nyasaland Northern Rhodesia and Cape Town It explores the relationship between anthropology and history and the tensions between liberalism Christianity Marxism and apartheid ideology Drawing on the letters and diaries left by Monica and Godfrey Wilson this is a powerful story about politics race war faith love and loss High quality design on a low budget Dorothea Sommer, Janine Schmidt, Stefan Clevström, 2016-03-07 This publication brings together a range of building projects from National Academic and Public Libraries from different countries of the world showing how these libraries are able to continue to provide high quality library space that is affordable in times of difficult economic circumstances We will hear about the building processes co operation with architects and engineers and how librarians and users have reacted to these new buildings The Statesman's Yearbook 2016 Nick Heath-Brown, 2017-02-07 Now in its 152nd edition The Statesman's Yearbook continues to be the reference work of choice for accurate and reliable information on every country in the world Covering political economic social and cultural aspects the Yearbook is also available online for subscribing institutions www.statesmansyearbook.com The New York Times Index , 1953 Palliative Care for Chronic Cancer Patients in the Community Michael Silbermann, 2020-10-29 The new global cancer data suggests that the global burden has risen to 18.1 million new cases per year and 9.6 million cancer deaths per year A number of factors appear to be driving this increase in particular a growing and aging global population and an increase of exposure to cancer risk factors linked to social and economic development For rapidly growing economies the data suggests a shift from poverty or infection related cancers to those associated with lifestyles more typical in industrialized countries There is still large geographical diversity in cancer occurrence and variations in the magnitude and profile of the disease between and within world regions There are specific types of cancer that dominate globally lung female breast and colorectal cancer and the regional variations in common cancer types signal the extent to which societal economic and lifestyle changes interplay to differentially impact on the

profile of this most complex group of diseases Unfortunately despite advances in cancer care a significant proportion of patients at home experience sub optimal outcomes Barriers to successful treatment outcomes include but are not limited to access to oncologists in the primary health centers non adherence lack of experienced oncology and palliative care nurses in the community inadequate monitoring and the lack of training of family and pediatric physicians Telemedicine approaches including telephone triage education telemonitoring teleconsultation and status tracking through mobile applications have shown promise in further improving outcomes in particular for chronic cancer patients following their hospitalization Lessons can be learned from existing hospices in North America the United Kingdom Australia Centers of Excellence in African Uganda and modern community services in India Kerala An important goal of this book is to describe and encourage professionals to develop new community programs in palliative care which include training and empowering physicians and nurses in the community on the principles of palliative care The Middle East Cancer Consortium MECC together with the American Society of Clinical Oncology ASCO and the American Oncology Nursing Society ONS have conducted multiple courses ranging from basic palliative care to more specialized training in palliative care for multiple nationalities in Europe Asia and Africa Our experience clearly indicates that to promote such activities one needs strong leadership and confirmed political will to support the endeavor The new book will emphasize the importance of having a core of multiple stakeholders including community leaders government NGOs and media to be actively involved in advocating for the cause and generating public awareness This text will provide the reader with a comprehensive understanding of the outside of the hospital treatment of cancer patients by medical paramedical and volunteer personnel In doing so this text will encourage the creation of new palliative care services improving upon the existing ones and stimulate further research in this field Part 1 of the text will begin with an overview of the current state of affairs of services provided to cancer patients while being cared for by primary health centers It will also review the current literature regarding medical and psychological based therapy options in the community for cancer patients at different stages of their disease Part 2 will address the unique role of the community nurse within the framework of the multidisciplinary team treating the patient in the attempt to provide optimal evaluation and care in very challenging situations such as with terminal patients Part 3 will provide insightful models of this new discipline and serve as a valuable resource for physicians nurses social workers and others involved in the care of cancer patients The book will take a multidisciplinary approach integrating clinical and environmental data for practical management to enhance the efficacy of treatment while relieving suffering Part 4 will also discuss the application of modern technological approaches to track symptoms quality of life diet mobility duration of sleep and medication use including pain killers in chronic cancer patients in the community Part 5 of the book will also be devoted to modes of developing a collaborative program between governmental and non governmental organization sectors This includes volunteer workers in close collaboration with medical professionals for providing emotional and spiritual support nursing care nutritional support and empowering family caregivers Such a model makes palliative care in the community a people's movement thus transferring part of the responsibility and ownership to the community
