Pomante II,Scot Schraufnagel,Quan Li,2023-12-22 In the wake of Shelby County v Holder and the January 6 Capitol insurrection changes to election laws policies and especially access to voting have become a key political battleground A central point of contention is whether new restrictive voting laws intentionally discriminate against Black and Hispanic subpopulations in the United States Conversely do policies that expand voting access favor Democrats and increase the possibility of election fraud In The Cost of Voting in the American States Michael J Pomante II Scot Schraufnagel and Quan Li test these questions The authors look specifically for systematic outcomes produced by distinctive election policies in the American states First they establish a competent measure of voting restrictions to begin this unraveling The authors create a Cost of Voting Index COVI for the fifty states which uses a statistical procedure to extract an underlying dimension and to determine significance from state laws based on how restrictive the policies are The authors call the underlying dimension extracted the cost of voting With this measure in place they evaluate which states have a higher cost of voting how this cost impacts who votes and whether there is a correlation between the cost of voting and minority populations Using Racial Threat Theory arguments the authors demonstrate that states with larger or growing Black and Hispanic populations have more restricted voting and that these restrictive voting laws disproportionately demobilize these populations in predictable ways States with a higher cost of voting also show lower minority electoral success as well as a larger gap in Black and female representation and the authors reveal that decreasing the cost of voting does not lead to fraud or favor one party over another The Cost of Voting in the American States makes a case for a new preclearance formula and the COVI provides a viable approach for future election law The Grants Register 2025 Palgrave Macmillan,2024-08-23 The Grants Register 2025 is the most authoritative and comprehensive guide available of postgraduate and professional funding worldwide It contains international coverage of grants in almost 60 countries both English and non English speaking information on subject areas level of study eligibility and value of awards
