2015 Courses Intake In Kenya:

Facing Forward Sajitha Bashir, Marlaine Lockheed, Elizabeth Ninan, Jee-Peng Tan, 2018-09-20 Facing Forward lays out a range of policy and implementation actions that are needed for countries in Sub Saharan Africa to meet the challenge of improving learning while expanding access and completion of basic education for all The book underscores the importance of aligning the education system to be relentlessly focused on learning outcomes and to ensuring that all children have access to good schools good learning materials and good teachers It is unique in characterizing countries according to the challenges they faced in the 1990s and the educational progress they have made over the past 25 years allowing countries in the region to learn from each other The authors review the global literature and add to it by their extensive new analyses of multiple datasets from more than three dozen countries in the region they integrate findings about what affects children s learning their access to schooling and progress through basic education The book draws lessons from the region and for the region about what works and what is needed to better implement what is known to have worked The book examines four areas to help countries better align their systems to improve learning 1 completing the unfinished agenda of reaching universal basic education with quality 2 ensuring effective management and support of teachers 3 targeting spending priorities and budget processes on improving quality and 4 closing the institutional capacity gap It concludes with an assessment of how future educational progress may be affected by projected fertility rates and economic growth

Cultural Impact on Conflict Management in Higher Education Nancy T. Watson, Lei Xie, Matthew J. Etchells, 2018-07-01 Cultural Impact on Conflict Management in Higher Education shares information regarding conflict management and resolution in higher education from a global perspective In this book we introduced many conflict resolution methods from different regions in the world You can borrow some successful strategies and examine the differences and similarities between contexts The book shares a conflict resolution model which may direct the reader to start thinking about addressing and managing conflicts from different levels of organizations This book is a collective work of authors coming from all over the world We chose higher education as the context because it is a place where diverse thoughts perspectives and people come together Because of the potential richness of diversity on a college campus the opportunity for conflicts occurs Managing conflict does not work when there is a one way only approach model for addressing conflict Some conflict resolution encompasses multiple dimensions a one s personal beliefs or beliefs about an issue b an individual s personal history in terms of how the conflict was perceived as something to be discussed or not c work culture of the conflict where if one has a conflict the person or unit is messing up or there is a problem person d the unconscious strategies of face saving trying to maintain one s image present e social hierarchies or relationships and f the diversity dimensions and issues that may be present

NAIP toolkit for Malabo domestication: Economic modeling of agricultural growth and investment strategy, case study of Kenya Fofana, Ismaël, Omolo, Miriam W. O., Goundan, Anatole, Magne Domgho, Léa Vicky, Collins, Julia, Marti, Estefania, 2019-03-07

The Malabo Agenda on Accelerated Agricultural Growth and Transformation has brought technical challenges to the development of agricultural strategies by expanding the number of commitments and goals under the Comprehensive Africa Agriculture Development Programme. In this paper we describe and apply an economic modeling framework that was developed to identify the agricultural investment priority areas for a country and to define milestones to track its progress towards the Malabo goals. The framework consists of a three layer simulation model that aims to capture multiple Malabo commitments and goals. First the agricultural productivity analysis uses the stochastic meta frontier technique to assess opportunities to increase agricultural productivity. Second the economywide analysis uses an agricultural and investment focused computable general equilibrium model to capture the Malabo goals on agricultural growth intra African trade of agricultural commodities and public and private agricultural investments. Third the microeconomic analysis builds upon statistical economic modeling to allow direct measurement and simulation of the Malabo goals on poverty and hunger. The modeling framework is applied to Kenya using the most recent data. The Malabo Agenda simulation results indicate that Kenya's current nonagriculture led growth is not sufficient to achieving the Malabo overarching goals on poverty and hunger. Agriculture led growth complemented by extended social assistance is more likely to close the income growth and inequality gaps and contribute to achieving the multiple Malabo commitments and goals by 2025.

Resilient Cities urban nutrition profile: Kenya, 2025-03-18

Despite progress in reducing child stunting over the past 15 years Kenya is now facing new nutrition challenges including overweight and obesity. The double burden of malnutrition DBM which is the coexistence of under and overnutrition within individuals, households and populations, manifests as child stunting and adult overweight mostly in women at the population and household levels. Dietary diversity is low and affects different population groups particularly young children, adolescents and women predisposing them to micronutrient deficiencies. However recent data on micronutrient intake and status are lacking. Households living in urban areas are vulnerable to being overweight a consequence of increasingly unhealthy dietary patterns. In Kenya's informal urban settlements limited dietary diversity, reliance on cereals and widespread consumption of ultra processed foods (UPFs) contribute to high rates of child stunting, underweight and the DBM with affordability and accessibility driving food choices. Compounding factors include food safety concerns, clustering of unhealthy food vendors and external shocks. Urban nutrition interventions have had mixed results with some programs improving child health and maternal knowledge but others showing no significant impact. Kenya aims to eliminate malnutrition by 2027 but national policies focus mostly on rural areas leaving urban nutrition challenges insufficiently addressed. Programs such as Afya Jiji and the Nairobi City County Food

System Strategy target urban health but gaps in urban specific strategies poor coordination and limited funding hinder progress The national school meals program serves only a small portion of schools and urban food policies are still underdeveloped Food Safety in Low and Middle Income Countries Delia Grace,Bassirou Bonfoh,Hung Nguyen-Viet,Barbara Häslér,2024-02-23 Foodborne diseases FBD are an important externality of agriculture and food systems but only recently have they risen up the development agenda as the result of growing awareness of the health and economic burdens of FBD and how they relate to food systems with a focus on low income and middle income countries LMIC particularly African nations The health burden of FBD is comparable with that of malaria and over 90% falls on people in LMIC with an economic burden of more than US 100 million per year FBD have many other less well estimated effects on nutrition gender equity and the environment While understanding of food safety in domestic markets of LMICs has advanced greatly risk management is in its infancy This Research Topic will bring together leading regional perspectives on food safety in LMICs Food systems transformation in Kenya: Lessons from the past and policy options for the future Loading... Schönfeldt, Gloria Essilfie, Yunyun Gong, 2024-05-06 Africa is confronted with the triple burden of malnutrition it is also faced with the triple challenges of poverty inequality and unemployment In many African countries large proportions of the population rely on agriculture not only for their food but also for their livelihoods A transformed agricultural and food system is thus a necessary condition for addressing this double triple challenge Additionally post harvest and food waste and losses reduce the availability of sufficient quantities of safe edible and preferable foods At least one third of food produced at farm level is lost due to inappropriate storage infrastructure and agro processing technologies in developing countries and one third of food purchased is wasted at household and retail level
