An African Response to the Challenge of Integrating STD/HIV-AIDS Services Into Family Planning Programs Wilson K. Kisubi,1997 Aids, Sex and the Scottish Churches Michael S. Northcott,1993 AIDS Bibliography ,1994 Systemic Involvement in HIV and STI Mr. Rohit Manglik,2024-05-16 Explores the systemic approach to managing HIV and STIs emphasizing nursing interventions and care From Technology Transfer to Intercultural Development S. Strijbos, Jan van der Stoep, 2012-02-01 The idea for this book has been born in a dialogue between the authors of In Search of an Integrative Vision for Technology 2006 and a group of scholars and practitioners from South Africa whose research and development activities focuses on problems of traditional African society and culture. Although there existed awareness in the writing of the earlier book that the search for normativity for our technological society should encompass the different cultural spheres of the world no attention has been paid to the problem of interculturality. Focussing on the development of technology in the developed societies the emphasis was laid on finding a basis for interdisciplinarity bridging the gaps between the sciences and humanities as well as between theory and practice. According to the vision that has been elaborated on in the above book not the autonomous dynamics of technology as a free flying projectile should determine the future of our global world but guidance has to be provided by a normative perspective on technology for the common good of all people and cultures. Following further this line of research the current book aims to address explicitly the intercultural dimension of technology in our globalising world.
