Analysis of Panels and Limited Dependent Variable Models Cheng Hsiao, M. Hashem Pesaran, Kajal Lahiri, Lung Fei Lee, 1999-07-29 This important collection brings together leading econometricians to discuss advances in the areas of the econometrics of panel data The papers in this collection can be grouped into two categories The first which includes chapters by Amemiya Baltagi Arellano Bover and Labeaga primarily deal with different aspects of limited dependent variables and sample selectivity The second group of papers including those by Nerlove Schmidt and Ahn Kiviet Davies and Lahiri consider issues that arise in the estimation of dynamic possibly heterogeneous panel data models Overall the contributors focus on the issues of simplifying complex real world phenomena into easily generalisable inferences from individual outcomes As the contributions of G S Maddala in the fields of limited dependent variables and panel data were particularly influential it is a fitting tribute that this volume is dedicated to him

The Econometrics of Panel Data László Mátyás, Patrick Sevestre, 2013-12-01 The aim of this volume is to provide a general overview of the econometrics of panel data both from a theoretical and from an applied viewpoint Since the pioneering papers by Kuh 1959 Mundlak 1961 Hoch 1962 and Balestra and Nerlove 1966 the pooling of cross section and time series data has become an increasingly popular way of quantifying economic relationships Each series provides information lacking in the other so a combination of both leads to more accurate and reliable results than would be achievable by one type of series alone Over the last 30 years much work has been done investigation of the properties of the applied estimators and test statistics analysis of dynamic models and the effects of eventual measurement errors etc These are just some of the problems addressed by this work In addition some specific difficulties associated with the use of panel data such as attrition heterogeneity selectivity bias pseudo panels etc have also been explored The first objective of this book which takes up Parts I and II is to give as complete and up to date a presentation of these theoretical developments as possible Part I is concerned with classical linear models and their extensions Part II deals with nonlinear models and related issues logit and probit models latent variable models incomplete panels and selectivity bias and point processes

Estimation, Inference and Specification Analysis Halbert White, 1996-06-28 This book examines the consequences of misspecifications for the interpretation of likelihood based methods of statistical estimation and interference The analysis concludes with an examination of methods by which the possibility of misspecification can be empirically investigated

Applied Panel Data Analysis for Economic and Social Surveys Hans-Jürgen Andreß, Katrin Golsch, Alexander W. Schmidt, 2013-01-24 Many economic and social surveys are designed as panel studies which provide important data for describing social changes and testing causal relations between social phenomena This textbook shows how to manage describe and model these kinds of data It presents models for continuous and categorical dependent variables focusing either on the level of these variables at different points in time or on their change over time It covers fixed and random effects models models for change scores and event history models All statistical methods are explained in an application centered style using research examples from scholarly journals which can be replicated by the reader through data provided on the accompanying website As all models are compared to each other it provides valuable assistance with choosing the right model in applied research The textbook is directed at master and doctoral students as well as applied researchers in the social sciences psychology business administration and economics Readers should be familiar with linear regression and have a good understanding of ordinary least squares estimation
