

Unit 1: Analytic Geometry in Calculus

Summary

Analytic geometry is a branch of mathematics that enables us to see the relationships between geometrical shapes and their mathematical representations, using coordinate systems. We begin Lesson 1.1 by considering the familiar—the Cartesian coordinate system—which describes space using a two-dimensional, rectangular coordinate system. Here, we examine how curves within the plane can be represented using parametric equations, and then we examine how our understanding of calculus is modified in this context.

In Lesson 1.2 we turn our attention to another coordinate system: the polar coordinate system. We study the properties of geometrical shapes defined by polar coordinates, as well as the relationship between the polar coordinate system and the Cartesian system.

We finish with Lesson 1.3 by studying geometrical shapes known as conic sections—their formulas, graphical representations and properties.

Lesson 1.1 Parametric Curves

Learning Objectives

When you have completed this lesson, you will be able to

- represent curves with parametric equations.
- generate a function or implicit function for a parameterized curve.
- calculate tangents to parametric curves.
- calculate areas under parametric curves.
- calculate arc lengths of parametric curves.
- calculate surface areas defined by rotation of a parametric curve about an axis.
