

OCR Computer Science A level paper 1 Test Guide With Complete Solution 2023

PC - Answer Program counter, contains the address of the next instruction

CIR - Answer Current Instruction Register, stores the address of the next instruction currently being executed and decoded

MAR - Answer Memory Address Register, holds relevant memory address (to read from or write to)

MDR - Answer Memory Data Register, stores data being transferred to and from memory, acts as a buffer

ALU - Answer Arithmetic and Logic Unit, does all mathematical calculations and makes all logical decisions

Accumulator - Answer A storage register in the ALU that holds data temporarily while the data is processed and before it is transferred to memory

RISC - Answer Reduced Instruction Set Computer. Only simple instructions taking one clock cycle are executed - currently more widely used than CISC

Advantages: allows for pipelining, execution will be quicker or as fast as CISC

Disadvantages: Compiler has to do more work, more RAM required

CISC - Answer Complex Instruction Set Computer. Large instruction set is used to minimise lines of code required - mainly used for microcontrollers and embedded systems

Advantages: compiler has very little work to do, not much RAM required

Disadvantages: Building in specialised instructions can be inefficient when only ~20% get used per program

GPU - Answer Graphics Processing Unit - dedicated graphics processor on a graphics card, used to render images stored in the RAM of the graphics card

Multi-core CPU - Answer A CPU with more than one core on the same chip - makes use of parallel processing for optimum efficiency

What affects processor performance? - Answer - The number of processor cores, more cores -> better performance

- The processor's clock speed: faster clock speed -> better performance

- Amount/type of cache memory: more/better cache memory -> better performance

RAM - Answer Random Access Memory - stores programs and data currently in use. Volatile

Educating the next generation of scientists Great Britain: National Audit Office, 2010-11-12 The Department for Education has made good progress in improving take up and achievement in areas such as A Level maths and GCSE Triple Science However there has been less success in increasing the number of science teachers improving take up of A Level physics and raising the standards of school science facilities There is evidence that pupils taking Triple Science GCSE are more likely than those studying combined science to choose science subjects at A Level and to achieve higher grades While starting from a low base pupil take up of the three individual sciences has increased by almost 150 per cent in the last five years However by June 2009 almost half of secondary schools still did not offer Triple Science Take up of chemistry and maths A Level has already exceeded the targets for 2014 set by the Department but take up of physics A Level has increased only slightly since 2005 06 Achievement increased across all science subjects and maths at A Level between 2002 03 and 2009 10 Until recently the Department had a target to ensure that all school laboratories were up to a good or excellent standard by 2010 However it did not collect routine data to measure progress against this target and the most recent research available found that science facilities were inadequate in around a quarter of secondary schools Although recruitment of science graduates to train as specialist teachers has increased the Department is not on course to meet the targets set by the previous Government for recruiting more mathematics and physics teachers by 2014 Research on College Stress and Coping Christopher J.

McCarthy,R. Jason Lynch,Stephen DiDonato,2024-09-01 This volume informs our understanding of how college settings can respond to the challenges of the COVID 19 pandemic and beyond The college years are often a stressful time for students but the pandemic has added unprecedented levels of demands Much of what we know about stress and trauma in education predates the COVID 19 pandemic Readers of this book will better understand the demands of the pandemic as well as the resources college will need going forward As the pandemic recedes it seems likely that promoting student health always a challenge will become even more difficult Students faced steep losses in their academic and socio emotional progress after more than two years of pandemic impacted schooling The silver lining is that scholars who study the occupational health have spent the past several years studying the effect of the pandemic on college students which led us to edit this volume to collected what is known and have these experts explain how we can better support students in the future
