Many do you think the profit margin for Anagene's cartridges has been fluctuating? Is likely attributable to the actual number of cartridges sold at this cartridge company, or because of the existing system they are using to calculate the cost?

The actual number of cartridges sold at this cartridge company has changed. The company revised the estimated number of cartridges produced and revised the calculation of the cost per unit. This led to the estimated marginal revenue change. Finally, company revenue (the marginal revenue) should be calculated as follows: $Q \times P$.

Anagene Case Solution:

Saunders Solutions in Veterinary Practice: Small Animal Dermatology Anita Patel, Peter J. Forsythe, 2008-06-11

This title is directed primarily towards health care professionals outside of the United States. For most dermatological conditions, several treatment and/or management options are available, making the situation even more complicated. Small Animal Dermatology is a handy reference for these cases and encourages the practitioner to pursue a definitive diagnosis and plan effective management even if the condition can not be cured. Unique new case-based approach relating essential theory to clinical practice. Modern, highly designed and illustrated so key information can be seen at a glance. Self-testing MCQs and remediation means these books are ideally suited for CPD or as an exam revision aid. Essential for all general small animal veterinary practitioners and students.

Exhaustive analysis of scalp hair regression: subjective and objective perception from initial hair loss to severe miniaturisation and drug-induced regrowth Dominique Van

Neste, 2021-03-18
Aim The reason why non-calibrated hair variables poorly estimate scalp hair coverage during hair growth studies was studied.
Methods Hair productivity integrates density, diameter and daily hair growth rate. Cross-sectional studies have established hair productivity in female and male patients (480 vs 90 controls) with self-evaluation of hair loss phototrichogram, CE, PTG, EC and scalp coverage scoring. SCS Tracking productivity of individual hair follicular units from longitudinal studies challenged the application of our methods during drug trials.
Results Hair loss means decreased productivity and increased time to complete coverage. The hair mass index (HMI) linearly connects productivity with clinical perception of coverage, i.e. SCS. The ensuing HMI abacus translates independently of gender, age, pattern or severity and unravels unequal intervals between categories of the Ludwig and Hamilton classifications. With one severity grade shift, time to complete coverage varied from 21–51 days, i.e. no equality. During longitudinal studies, SCS detected improved productivity reflecting clinically relevant responses but remained stable in the absence of significant productivity variations. Follicular unit labelling and individual hair growth tracing showed that reversal of miniaturised hair follicles does not play a major role during drug-induced hair regrowth. The latter reflects re-activation of resting/dormant terminal hair follicles. The recovered productivity would not be possible once hair follicles enter the phase of structural functional irreversible miniaturisation.
Conclusion Besides pattern identification, density of nanohair and HMI appear as innovative diagnostic approaches. Abrupt transformation within one cycle of terminal hair follicles into miniaturised ones and its reversal as the effect of active FDA-approved drugs remain highly improbable.
