Towards a Rational Philosophical Anthropology J. Agassi, 2012-12-06 The thesis of the present volume is critical and dual 1 Present day philosophy of man and sciences of man suffer from the Greek mis taken polarization of everything human into nature and convention which is allegedly good and evil which is allegedly truth and fal sity which is allegedly rationality and irrationality to wit the polar ization of all fields of inquiry the natural and social sciences as well as ethics and all technology whether natural or social into the totally positive and the totally negative 2 Almost all philosophy and sci ences of man share the erroneous work ethic which is the myth of man s evil nature the myth of the beast in man the doctrine of original sin To mediate or to compromise between the first view of human nature as good with the second view of it as evil sociologists have devised a modified utilitarianism with deferred gratification so called and the theory of the evil of artificial competition capitalist and socialist alike and of keeping up with the Joneses Now the mediation is not necessary For the polarization makes for abstract errors which are simplistic views of rationality such as reductionism and positivism of all sorts as well as for concrete errors such as the disposition to condemn repeatedly those human weaknesses which are inevitable namely man s inability to be perfectly rational avoid all error etc thus setting man against himself as all too wicked Everyday Democracy Anthony J. Spires,2024-12-10 Bottom up voluntary associations it is commonly thought are among the fundamental building blocks of democracy preparing people for engaged citizenship A great deal of interest in Chinese civil society is premised on the idea that such groups might foster the emergence of democracy But in a society where virtually all major institutions from schools to workplaces to government bear the deep imprint of authoritarian rule can voluntary associations still spur social and political change Everyday Democracy is a groundbreaking study of bottom up organizations in China arguing that even in an authoritarian state they nurture the skills and habits of democracy Anthony J Spires offers an in depth look at two youth based youth led volunteer groups showing how their values and practices point the way toward the emergence of new more democratic forms of association In mainstream Chinese organizational life even in grassroots civil society groups hierarchy and autocracy are pervasive In these groups however ideals of equality mutual respect and dignity have motivated young people to invent new practices and norms that contrast greatly with typical top down organizational culture Drawing on more than a decade of field based research with a diverse array of participants Everyday Democracy pinpoints the seeds of a democratic culture inside an authoritarian regime American Reference Books Annual Juneal M.
