Martins,2010-11-15 The contrast between the temperate and the tropical is one of the most enduring themes in the history of the Western geographical imagination Caught between the demands of experience and representation documentation and fantasy travelers in the tropics have often treated tropical nature as a foil to the temperate to all that is civilized modest and enlightened Tropical Visions in an Age of Empire explores images of the tropical world maps paintings botanical drawings photographs diagrams and texts produced by European and American travelers over the past three centuries Bringing together a group of distinguished contributors from disciplines across the arts and humanities this volume contains eleven beautifully illustrated essays arranged in three sections devoted to voyages mappings and sites that consider the ways that tropical places were encountered experienced and represented in visual form Covering a wide range of tropical sites in the Pacific South Asia West Africa the Caribbean and Latin America the book will appeal to a broad readership scholars of postcolonial studies art history literature imperial history history of science geography and anthropology Darkness

Subverted Katrin Althans,2010-02-18 At the heart of the Gothic novel proper lies the discursive binary of self and other which in colonial literature was quickly filled with representations of the colonial master and his indigenous subject Contemporary black Australian artists have usurped this colonial Gothic discourse torn it to pieces and finally transformed it into an Aboriginal Gothic This study first develops the theoretical concept of an Aboriginal Gothic and then uses this term as a tool to analyse novels by Vivienne Cleven Mudrooroo Kim Scott Sam Watson and Alexis Wright as well as films directed by Beck Cole and Tracey Moffatt It centres on the question of how a genuinely European mode the Gothic can be permeated and thus digested by elements of indigenous Australian culture in order to portray the current situation of Aboriginal Australians and to celebrate a recovered cultural identity Society and environment Teachers guide - Qld R.I.C. Publications Pty, Limited,2001 Identity Politics in Deconstruction Carolyn D'Cruz,2016-05-13 Identity politics dominates the organisation of liberation movements today This is the case whether fighting over one's birthright to a nation such as in the Palestinian Israeli conflict lobbying for civil rights such as in gay and lesbian campaigns for marriage or struggling for citizenry recognition as currently experienced by asylum seekers In this book Carolyn D Cruz investigates the nexus between what David Birch describes as the seemingly impossible of high theory and the seemingly accessible possibilities of popular discourse as encountered in liberation movements based on identity D Cruz reworks the logic of such movements through the unique combination of Derridean deconstruction Foucauldian discourse and Levinasian ethics Moving both within and between the domains of philosophy politics and postmodern culture this book offers both a clear explication of complex philosophical issues and an understanding of how they relate to the political practicalities of everyday life The Lone Protestor Fiona Paisley,2012 The late 1920s marked an extraordinary protest by an Australian Aboriginal man on the streets of London Standing outside Australia House cloaked in tiny skeletons Anthony Martin Fernando condemned the failure of British rule in his country Drawn from an extensive search in archives from Australia and Europe this is the first full length study of Fernando's life and the self-professed mission that lasted half his adult life. A moving account, it chronicles the various forms of action taken by Fernando from pamphlets on the streets of Rome to speeches in the famous Speakers' Corner in Hyde Park and brings to light previously unknown details about his extraordinary life in Australia and overseas.
