ABSTINENCE FUNDING HISTORY

NASTAD is concerned with the significant increase in federal and state resources directed toward abstinence-only education programs for youth. Currently, three federal programs fund abstinence-only education - the Adolescent Family Life (AFL) program; the Abstinence Education Formula Block Grant Program; and the Community-Based Abstinence Education (CBAE) Grants.

Since 1996, the U.S. government has spent over $1.6 billion dollars on abstinence-only-until-marriage

PRESIDENT'S FY2009 BUDGET

The President's budget, released on February 4, 2008, increases funding for abstinence education programs to a total of $204 million for FY2009, an increase of $28 million over FY2008. The entire increase is intended for the Community-Based Abstinence Education (CBAE) Grants for a total of $141 million which will allow the program to make additional awards. The President's budget also cuts funds to DASH's comprehensive school health program. The budget proposal flat funds the Title X Family Planning program at $300 million. The Title X Family Planning program provides funding to family planning clinics to provide reproductive health care to low-income women.

programs. Of that amount, over $1 billion has been spent in the last five years. In FY2008, AFL programs were funded at $13 million. Annually, the Abstinence Education Formula Block Grant Program receives $50 million. To date, seventeen states (i.e. Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Iowa, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Montana, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Rhode Island, Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming) have rejected this abstinence funding. In FY2008, Congress funded CBAE at $113 million.

ABSTINENCE FUNDING STREAMS

Adolescent Family Life Demonstration Grants Program

Enacted in 1981, the goal of the Adolescent Family Life (AFL) program, administered by the Office of Population Affairs (OPA) is to prevent premarital adolescent pregnancy by promoting the values of chastity and self-discipline, as well as to promote adoption as the preferred option for pregnant adolescents and to provide care services for pregnant and parenting adolescents.

Since 1997, programs funded through AFL for abstinence-only education have been tied to the eight-point definition in the Temporary Assistance for Need Families (TANF) law of 1996 (see below). As a result of report language in the FY1997 Labor-Health and Human Services (HHS) Appropriations bill, prevention programs funded under AFL programs must comply with the eight-point definition. The language also waived the two-thirds care/one-third prevention funding formula by devoting more funding to prevention than to care. These changes have been included in every subsequent Labor-HHS Appropriations bill.

Abstinence Education Formula Block Grant Program

The 1996 welfare reform law, Section 510 (b) of Title V of the Social Security Act, guaranteed $50 million annually over five years for abstinence-only-until-marriage education grants to states. In February 2006, TANF was reauthorized through FY2010. Those states that choose to accept Section 510(b) funds, administered through the Administration for Josephson, 2016-05-01 Offers a more democratic way to think about families politics and public life Public policy often assumes there is one correct way to be a family Rethinking Sexual Citizenship argues that policies that enforce this idea hurt all of us and harm our democracy Jyl J. Josephson uses the concept of sexual citizenship a criticism of the assumption that all families have a heterosexual at their center to show how government policies are made to punish or reward particular groups of people This analysis applies sexual citizenship not only to policies that impact LGBTQ families but also to other groups including young people affected by abstinence only public policies and single parent families affected by welfare policy The book also addresses the idea that the normal family in the United States is white It concludes with a discussion of how scholars and activists can help create a more inclusive democracy by challenging this narrow view of public life Federal Register, 2004 Views and Estimates of Committees of the House (together with Supplemental and Minority Views) on the Congressional Budget for Fiscal Year ...
