Pevsner: The Complete Broadcast Talks Stephen Games,2016-04-22 This book brings together the surviving texts of the 113 talks on art and architecture that we know of given by the art historian Sir Nikolaus Pevsner on radio and television between 1945 1977 It includes the seven texts of the 1955 Reith Lectures in their original broadcast form as well as lectures that Pevsner gave in German for the BBC in London and RIAS in Berlin and on the radio in New Zealand These talks are important as an example of the attempt by the BBC in particular to provide intellectual programming for the mass population The talks are important for what they reveal about changing tastes in the treatment of the arts as a broadcast topic as well as offering a case study of the development of one particular historian s approach to a subject that was gaining ground in universities as a direct result of his popularisation of it They show what topics were thought to be central to the artistic agenda in the mid years of the last century whether from an academic or journalistic perspective and reveal the mode and manner of academic engagement with the public over the period Forty six of these talks were published in 2002 on the centenary of Pevsner s birth in a trade edition At the time his reputation as an active force in architectural thinking had long been eclipsed and interest in him had waned Since then there has been a turn around in tastes and Pevsner s role within his chosen field is now being actively studied and discussed by a new generation for whom he is central to an understanding of the 20th century There is therefore a real need for this book In addition to containing twice the number of talks as the previous volume it is supplemented with explanatory introductions footnotes and citations It also reveals as far as this is possible alternative versions of Pevsner s texts as they appeared at different stages in the original production process As such this edition can be relied on by academics as scholarly and

The Political in Margaret Atwood's Fiction Theodore F. Sheckels,2016-02-24 Suggesting that politics and power are at the center of Margaret Atwood s fiction Theodore F Sheckels examines Atwood s novels from The Edible Woman to The Year of the Flood Whether her treatment is explicit as in Bodily Harm and The Handmaid s Tale or by means of an exploration of interiority as in Cat s Eye and The Robber Bride Atwood s persistent concern is with how the empowered act towards those who are constrained within the political economic and social institutions that facilitate power dynamics Sheckels identifies an increasing sophistication in Atwood s exposition of power over time that is revealed in the later novels engagement with social class postcolonialism and a globalism that merges science and commerce as issues relevant to politics and power Acknowledging that Atwood is not a political theorist but a novelist Sheckels does not suggest that her work should be viewed as political commentary but rather as a creative treatment of the laudable but ultimately only partially successful ways in which women and other groups resist the constraints placed on them by institutionalized oppression

The Supernatural in Modern English Fiction Dorothy Scarborough, 2019-01-03 subject of the supernatural in modern English fiction has been found difficult to deal with because of its wealth of material While there has been no previous book on the topic and none related to it save Mr C E Whitmore's work on The Supernatural in Tragedy the mass of fiction itself introducing ghostly or psychic motifs is simply enormous It is manifestly impossible to discuss or even to mention all of it Even in my bibliography which numbers over three thousand titles I have made no effort to list all the available examples of the type The bibliography which I at first intended to publish in connection with this volume is far too voluminous to be included here so will probably be brought out later by itself
