Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1996      Coping with Defeat Jonathan Laurence, 2021-06-22 How do centralized institutional religions make peace with the modern state's displacement of their traditional prestige and power What are the factors that can promote the mutual acceptance of religious communities and the secular rule of law These are the questions posed in Jonathan Laurence's new book which argues that Roman Catholicism and Sunni Islam have trod surprisingly similar paths in their respective histories Contemporary Roman Catholicism and Sunni Islam both descend from religious states and empires the Papacy in the case of Catholicism and the Caliphate in the case of Islam As religio political orders the Western Church and the Islamic Caliphate ruled vast territories and populations Each set of religio political institutions made law controlled land and governed people for roughly four centuries Yet both suffered three similar upheavals and challenges the end of empires the rise of the modern national state and significant outward migrations from the home base of the religious tradition Laurence suggests that the historical experience of Catholicism offers a useful model for those concerned about the contemporary Sunni Muslim leadership s attitude toward the modern state Just as Catholicism worldwide benefited from the survival of the Vatican micro state and its ability to exert guidance over the religious belief and practice of Catholics worldwide so argues Laurence Muslim majority states should continue exert control over mosques imam training and religious education to reconcile Islam with the rule of law and thus with the authority of the secular state This book is based on prodigious archival research in Vatican and Ottoman Archives and on interviews conducted with senior officials responsible for Islamic affairs or public religious education in Algiers Ankara Casablanca Istanbul Oran Rabat Tunis and with senior interior ministry and foreign ministry officials in various European capitals responsible for relations with North African Turkish Qatari and Saudi ministries of Islamic and religious affairs
