Death Rituals among the Karanga of Zimbabwe John Chitakure, 2021-10-04 One of the inescapable truths that humanity has to grapple with is the reality of death The manner in which we die or the cause of our death may differ but death remains inevitable We may be afraid of it or not we may try to evade it or not but death still comes Although most religions promise the possibility of another life in the hereafter there is no scientifically verifiable evidence about the reality of that life Despite that lack of evidence every culture performs death rituals meticulously to prepare the spirits of its deceased for whatever form of life that may be available Death Rituals among the Karanga of Zimbabwe Praxis Significance and Changes explores the causes of sickness and death and the praxis of pre burial burial and post burial rituals of the Karanga of Zimbabwe in an attempt to unearth their original form and significance to identify the changes that have taken place It also provides a brief manual for the performance of some selected Karanga death rituals Reimagining

Nothwehr unfolds the theological, spiritual, and ethical treasure trove of Christianity especially as it has been developed and lived in Franciscan theology and tradition as it relates to our efforts to achieve sustainable living. She succeeds admirably in presenting it all in a style that makes this book both accessible and compelling to no specialist readers. The African Book Publishing Record, 2004

African Music John Gray, 1991-04-04 African Music is devoted to ethnographic, anthropological, musicological, and popular studies of sub-Saharan African music from the 1890s to the present. The bibliography is organized into six basic sections. Section one covers works on cultural policy and the performing arts in sub-Saharan Africa, while section two provides a selected guide to works on ethnomusicology. Section three, the largest, deals with general works and regional/country studies of traditional sub-Saharan musics defined most simply as the local village or rural musics of West, Central, Southern, and East Africa. General and regional/country studies of African pop music, as well as biographical and critical studies of 275 popular musicians and groups, are covered in section four. Section five focuses on the acculturated or art music traditions of Africa's Westernized elite, citing both general works and biographical/critical studies on African composers and performers. The sixth and final music section covers general studies on African church or liturgical music. The items cited in these six sections range from books, dissertations, unpublished papers, and periodical and newspaper articles to films, videotapes, and audiotapes in all of the major Western languages as well as several African ones. The three appendixes deal respectively with reference works on African music and culture, archives and research centers, and a selected discography listing both traditional and popular music recordings and outlets where they may be found. Four indexes—ethnic group, subject, artist, and author—complete the work and provide a key to its 5,800 entries. By covering works from 1732 to the present, African Music offers not only the most up-to-date scholarship on the subject but also the most comprehensive coverage currently available. It offers a much-needed and long-overdue resource for students, scholars, and librarians seeking to understand the musics of sub-Saharan Africa. The New Evangelization, 2015-02-26

The Second Vatican Council endorsed an engagement with the modern and secularized world through a renewed proclamation of the Gospel. John Paul II described this as the New Evangelization, and in 2010 Benedict XVI confirmed this priority by creating the Pontifical Council for Promoting the New Evangelization to re-propose the perennial truth of the Gospel. The New Evangelization was the subject of the Synod of Bishops in 2012, and in 2014 Pope Francis gave his reflections on the topic in Evangelii Gaudium. The New Evangelization draws on material presented and discussed at the conference Vatican II 50 Years On: The New Evangelization, organized by Leeds Trinity University on 26–29th June 2012. Part I traces the historical and theological links between the Council and the New Evangelization. Part II examines the renewed understanding of the Church as a result of the Council and the extent to which it is shaped by civilization. Part III analyzes the nature of the New Evangelization and its outworking in today's multifarious context of cultures, religions and societies. Part IV deals with the implementation of the New Evangelization by different communities and organizations and the issues this raises. In the Introduction and Conclusion the editors reflect on the New Evangelization in the light of significant developments since 2012. Encyclopedia of Associations, 1997 Liturgical Guide for Priests, Chanters and Choirs Antiochian Orthodox Christian Archdiocese of North America, Nifon Abraham, Demetri M.
