Rozensky, Jerry J. Sweet, Steven M. Tavian, 2013-06-29 For two decades I have been responding to questions about the nature of health psychology and how it differs from medical psychology behavioral medicine and clinical psychology From the beginning I have taken the position that any application of psychological theory or practice to problems and issues of the health system is health psychology I have repeatedly used an analogy to Newell and Simon's General Problem Solver program of the late 1950s and early 1960s which had two major functional parts in addition to the executive component One was the problem solving core the procedural competence the other was the representation of the problem environment In the analogy the concepts knowledge and techniques of psychology constitute the core competence the health system in all its complexity is the problem environment A health psychologist is one whose basic competence in psychology is augmented by a working knowledge of some aspect of the health system Quite apparently there are functionally distinct aspects of health psychology to the degree that there are meaningful subdivisions in psychological competence and significantly different microenvironments within the health system I hesitate to refer to them as areas of specialization as the man who gave health psychology its formal definition Joseph Matarazzo has said that there are no specialties in psychology cited in the editors preface to this book The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature , 1891 Resources in Vocational Education , 1979 Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature , 1891 Light Pollution Handbook Kohei Narisada, Duco Schreuder, 2013-06-05 This book deals with light pollution and about the ways to reduce it Light pollution is one of the negative side effects of artificial outdoor lighting The term light pollution is an unhappy one but as no better alternative seems to exist it will be used throughout this book The function of all outdoor lighting is to enhance the visibility or the aesthetics in the nighttime environment The light should come where it is needed If not it is spilled causing economic and environmental losses as well as disturbance and discomfort The overall effects are termed light pollution a major form of light pollution is the glow extending over the night sky Sky glow is discussed in many astronomical textbooks and in many popular brochures The present book is primarily aimed at those responsible for outdoor lighting installations Thus an engineering approach has been chosen The level of the book is that of college or University level The book is organized in two parts The first seven chapters cover the areas of general interest and conclude with recommendations The second part deals with the scientific and engineering elaboration of the first part A number of examples are included that refer to specific outdoor lighting installations and projects that are directly related to the reduction of light pollution Finally some information is given about the authors
