Paper 3158/01
Language

Key messages

In order to do well in this examination, candidates should:

choose a title in Section A on which they have something to say and for which they have command of appropriate structures and vocabulary read the question in Section B carefully and plan their responses to produce well-structured and persuasive arguments read the text in Section C carefully and write concise responses to the questions in their own words ensure in Section D that all the words and phrases in a sentence have been translated and carefully proofread their translation.

General comments

Overall, candidates performed well. They demonstrated good linguistic awareness and command of a wide range of structures and vocabulary.

Comments on specific questions

Section A

Composition

The topics catered for various backgrounds, practical life experiences as well as a good understanding of the practical application of proverbs in real life. They were interesting and age appropriate. Candidates displayed creativity and demonstrated that they understood what was expected of them.

Candidates were expected to approach the task in any way and to ensure that the composition was relevant to the topic.

A popular topic was 'Mesola le makoa a thekenoloji mo malatsing a segopieno' ('Advantages and disadvantages of technology in modern days'). Candidates demonstrated understanding of how technology adds value to people's lives, while condemning negative aspects of the internet and dependence on technology.

Another popular topic was 'HIV/AIDS ke segajaja-ledimo lejabatho' ('The scourge of HIV/AIDS'). Students demonstrated awareness of the effects of HIV/AIDS, such as that on the economy of many African countries.

Section B

Letter writing

The candidates were asked to write a letter of (200–250) words on the subject of immigration and integration. The candidates gave interesting and solid arguments on either side of the debate, emphasising the importance of providing support for refugees.

Polysemy in Cognitive Linguistics H. Cuyckens, Britta Zawada, 2001-01-01 In Cognitive Linguistics polysemy is regarded as a categorizing phenomenon i e related meanings of words form categories centering around a prototype and bearing family resemblance relations to one another Under this polysemy categorization view the scope of investigation has been gradually broadened from categories in the lexical and lexico grammatical domain to morphological syntactic and phonological categories The papers in this volume illustrate the importance of polysemy in describing these various categories A first set of papers analyzes the polysemy of such lexical categories as prepositions and scalar particles and looks at the import of polysemy in frame based dictionary definitions A second set shows that noun classes case and locative prefixes constitute meaningful and polysemous categories Three papers then pay attention to polysemy from a psychological perspective looking for psychological evidence of polysemy in lexical categories

Ideophones Erhard Friedrich Karl Voeltz, Christa Kilian-Hatz, 2001-01-01 The present volume represents a selection of papers presented at the International Symposium on Ideophones held in January 1999 in St Augustin Germany They center around the following hypotheses Ideophones are universal and constitute a grammatical category in all languages of the world ideophones and similar words have a special dramaturgic function that differs from all other word classes they simulate an event an emotion a perception through language In addition to this unique function a good number of formal parallels can be observed The languages dealt with here display strikingly similar patterns of derivational processes involving ideophones An equally widespread common feature is the introduction of ideophones via a verbum dicendi or complementizer Another observation concerns the sound symbolic behavior of ideophones Thus the word formation of ideophones differs from other words in their tendency for iconicity and sound symbolism Finally it is made clear that ideophones are part of spoken language the language register where gestures are used rather than written language

Translations of the Bible take place in the midst of tension between politics ideology and power With the theological authority of the book as God s Word not focusing on the process of translating is stating the obvious Inclinations fluency and zeitgeist play as serious a role as translators person faith and worldview as do their vocabulary poetics and linguistic capacity History has seen countless retranslations of the Bible What are the considerations according to which Biblical retranslations are being produced in current 21st century contexts From retranslations of the Hebrew Bible to those of the Old and New Testaments to mutual influences of Christian and Jewish translational traditions the papers collected here all deal with the question of what is to be re gained with the production of a new translation where at times many a previous one has already existed Volume 2 Times are changing and with them the norms and notions of correctness Despite a wide spread belief that the Bible as a sacred original only allows one translation if any new translations are constantly produced and published for all kinds of audiences and purposes The various paradigms marked by the theological political and historical correctness of the time group and identity and bound to certain ethics and axiomatic norms are reflected in almost every current translation project Like its predecessor the current volume brings together scholars working at the intersection of Translation Studies Bible Studies and Theology all of which share a special point of interest concerning the status of the Scriptures as texts fundamentally based on the act of translation and its recurring character It aims to breathe new life into Bible translation studies unlock new perspectives and vistas of the field and present a bigger picture of how Bible re translation works in society today South African Cultural Studies Christopher J. Lee,Andrew Offenburger,2025-09-16

This book offers a holistic guide as to how South African identity and culture can be understood in the past present and future Drawing from the rich archive of previously published articles from the journal Safundi South African Cultural Studies documents the mutual histories of the country and the journal over the past quarter century Divided into six sections the first section addresses cultural figures including Oprah Winfrey Trevor Noah Olive Schreiner and Dimitri Tsfendas an unusual group that illustrates the unique and international character of South African culture The second part brings attention to the important role that photography has had in depicting and narrating South African cultural life whether through the intimacies found in recent images by Zanele Muholi or the historical work of David Goldblatt and Santu Mofokeng The third section of the book looks at music as another idiom that has proven indispensable for South African social life with Miriam Makeba Rodriguez and Die Antwoord providing examples The fourth and fifth sections of this book address sexuality and film respectively underscoring at once the contrasting approaches to popular culture that have surfaced in Safundi as well as their requisite abilities for grasping everyday tastes and mores The worlds of Ms magazine District 9 Black Panther and Spike Lee to pick only several topics raised supply ways of thinking across these chapters The final section of the volume concludes with the role of place in the construction of culture whether museums national monuments the Spur restaurant franchise or landscapes like the Karoo This book will be an indispensable resource for scholars students activists and critics as well as readers who are generally interested in understanding South Africa s cultural history over the past century

Insiders and Outsiders Francis B. Nyamnjoh, 2013-07-04 This study of xenophobia and how it both exploits and excludes is an incisive commentary on a globalizing world and its consequences for ordinary people s lives Using the examples of Sub Saharan Africa s two most economically successful nations it meticulously documents the fate of immigrants and the new politics of insiders and outsiders As globalization becomes a palpable reality citizenship sociality and belonging are subjected to stresses to which few societies have devised a civil response beyond yet more controls African Language Media

Abiodun Salawu, 2020-11-16 This edited volume considers why the African language press is unstable and what can be done to develop quality African language journalism into a sustainable business Providing an overview of the African language journalism landscape this book examines the challenges of operating sustainable African language media businesses The chapters explore the political economy and management of African language media and consider case studies of the successes and failures of African language newspapers as well as the challenges of developing quality journalism Covering print and digital newspapers and broadcast journalism this book will be of interest to scholars of media and journalism in Africa

[Re]Gained in Translation II Sabine Dievenkorn, Shaul Levin, 2024-02-26 Times are changing and with them the norms and notions of correctness Despite a widespread belief that the Bible as a sacred original only allows one translation if any new translations are constantly produced and published for all kinds of audiences and purposes The various paradigms marked by the theological political and historical correctness of the time group and identity and bound to certain ethics and axiomatic norms are reflected in almost every current translation project Like its predecessor the current volume brings together scholars working at the intersection of Translation Studies Bible Studies and Theology all of which share a special point of interest concerning the status of the Scriptures as texts fundamentally based on the act of translation and its recurring character It aims to breathe new life into Bible translation studies unlock new perspectives and vistas of the field and present a bigger picture of how Bible re translation works in society today The People Shall Govern! Antawan I.

Byrd, 2020-10-13 A revelatory and informative presentation of the anti apartheid posters created by Medu Art Ensemble Formed in the late 1970s Medu Art Ensemble forcefully articulated a call to end the apartheid system s racial segregation and violent injustice through posters that combined revolutionary imagery with bold slogans Advocating for decolonization and majority nonwhite rule in South Africa and neighboring countries Medu members were persecuted by the South African Defense Force and operated in exile across the border in Botswana The People Shall Govern features nearly all the surviving posters that Medu created between 1979 and 1985 These objects are exceedingly rare as they were originally smuggled into South Africa and mounted in public places where they were regularly confiscated or torn down on sight Offering new insight into the conceptual framework of Medu s working practice and featuring a beautiful silkscreened cover this volume examines the continuing relevance and impact of its poster production Phonological Acquisition and Phonological Theory John Archibald, 2014-03-05 Much of the work currently conducted within the framework of Universal Grammar and language learnability focuses on the acquisition of syntax However the learnability issues are just as applicable to the domain of phonology This volume is the first to gather research that assumes a sophisticated phonological framework and considers the implications of this framework for language acquisition both first and second As such this book truly deals with phonological acquisition rather than phonetic acquisition Theory and description in African Linguistics Emily Clem , Peter Jenks , Hannah Sande , 2019 The papers in this volume were presented at the 47th Annual Conference on African Linguistics at UC Berkeley in 2016 The papers offer new descriptions of African languages and propose novel theoretical analyses of them The contributions span topics in phonetics phonology syntax semantics and pragmatics and reflect the typological and genetic diversity of languages in Africa Four papers in the volume examine Areal Features and Linguistic Reconstruction in Africa and were presented at a special workshop on this topic held alongside the general session of ACAL Language Planning and Policy in Africa Richard B. Baldauf, Robert B. Kaplan, 2004 A longer range purpose is to collect comparable information on as many polities as possible in order to facilitate the development of a richer theory to guide language policy and planning in other polities that undertake the development of a national policy on languages This volume is part of an areal series which is committed to providing descriptions of language planning and policy in countries around the world BOOK JACKET

New Curriculum History , 2019-02-11 Rereading the historical record indicates that it is no longer so easy to argue that history is simply prior to its forms Since the mid 1990s a new wave of research has formed around wider debates in the humanities and social sciences such as decentering the subject new analytics of power reconsideration of one dimensional time and three dimensional space attention to beyond archival sources alterity Otherness the invisible and more In addition broader and contradictory impulses around the question of the nation transnational post national proto national and neo national movements have unearthed a new series of problematics and focused scholarly attention on traveling discourses national imaginaries and less formal processes of socialization bonding and subjectification New Curriculum History challenges prior occlusions in the field building upon and departing from previous waves of scholarship extending the focus beyond the insularity of public schooling the traditional framework of the self contained nation state and the psychology of the schooled individual Drawing on global studies historical sociology postcolonial studies critical race theory visual culture theory disability studies psychoanalytics Cambridge school structuralisms poststructuralisms and infra and transnational approaches the volume holds together not despite but because of differences and incommensurabilities in rereading historical records European-language Writing in Sub-Saharan Africa Albert S.
