Festschrift is an amalgam of papers written by a collage of scholars on various subjects reflecting the multidisciplinary concerns of Professor Herbert Igboanusi. Precisely the contributions are from fields such as sociolinguistics, discourse analysis, language in education, English varieties, literature, and cultural linguistics. Irrespective of the orientation and nationality of contributors, the major focus of the papers was on the linguistic issues, experiences, and realities in Nigeria in whose frontiers the Festschrift recipient lives and works. It is expected that this volume will be a worthy contribution to linguistic scholarship in Africa and will serve as a reference material to researchers across the world. Ready-to-use Thematic Activities for Grades 4-8 Barbara Farley Bannister, Janice B. Carlile, 1994 Teacher's Manual and Resource Guide Edward L. Biller, 1977 Data Book of Social Studies Materials and Resources, 1984 Beyond the Boundaries Georgia A. Persons, 2017-09-29 In the past, African American aspirations for political office were assumed to be limited to areas with sizeable black population bases. By and large, black candidates have rarely been successful in statewide or national elections. This has been attributed to several factors: limited resources available to African American candidates or identification with a black liberationist ideological thrust. Other factors have been a relatively small and spatially concentrated primary support base of black voters and the persistent resistance of many white voters to support black candidates. For these reasons, the possibility of black candidates winning elections to national office was presumably just a dream. Conventional wisdom conceded a virtual cap on both the possible number of black elected officials and the level of elective office to which they could ascend. But objective political analysis has not always made sufficient allowances for the more universal phenomenon of individual political ambitions. The contributors to this volume explore the ways ambitious individuals identified and seized upon strategies that are expanding the boundaries of African American electoral politics. This volume is anchored by a symposium that focuses on new possibilities in African American politics. Both the electoral contests of 2006 and the Barack Obama presidential campaign represent an emergent dynamic in American electoral politics. Analysts are beginning to agree that the contours of social change now make the electoral successes of black candidates who are perceived as ideologically and culturally mainstream increasingly likely. The debate captured in this volume will likely inspire further scholarly inquiry into the changing nature and dimensions of the larger dynamic of race in American politics and the subsequent changing political fortunes of African American candidates. The American Nation Lewis Paul Todd, Merle Eugene Curti, 1986 Social Education in the Twentieth Century Christine A. Woyshner, Joseph Watras, Margaret Crocco, 2004 Since the birth of the republic, the aim of social education has been to prepare citizens for participation in democracy In the twentieth century theories about what constitutes good citizenship and who gets full citizenship in the civic polity changed dramatically In this book contributors with backgrounds in history of education educational foundations educational leadership and social studies education consider how social education inside and outside school has responded to the needs of a society in which the nature and prerogatives of citizenship continue to be contentious issues
