MacLeod, 2023-10 Mediating Violence from Africa explores how African and non African Francophone authors filmmakers editors and scholars have packaged interpreted and filmed the violent histories of post Cold War Francophone Africa This violence much of which unfolded in front of Western television cameras included the use of child soldiers facilitated by the Soviet Union's castoff Kalashnikov rifles the rise of Islamist terrorism in West Africa and the horrific genocide against the Tutsi in Rwanda Through close readings of fictionalized child soldier narratives cinematic representations of Islamist militants genocide survivor testimony and Western scholarship George S MacLeod analyzes the ways Francophone African authors and filmmakers as well as their editors and scholarly critics negotiate the aesthetic political cultural and ethical implications of making these traumatic stories visible MacLeod argues for the need to periodize these productions within a post Cold War framework to emphasize how shifts in post 1989 political discourse are echoed contested or subverted by contemporary Francophone authors filmmakers and Western scholars The questions raised in Mediating Violence from Africa are of vital importance today How the world engages with and responds to stories of recent violence and loss from Africa has profound implications for the affected communities and individuals More broadly in an era in which stories and images of violence from terror attacks to school shootings to police brutality are disseminated almost instantly and with minimal context these theoretical questions have implications for debates surrounding the ethics of representing trauma the politicization of memory and Africa's place in a global as opposed to a postcolonial or Euro African economic and political landscape New Perspectives on African Childhood De-Valera NYM Botchway, Awo Sarpong, Charles Quist-Adade, 2019-09-05 What does it mean to be a child in Africa In the detached Western media narratives of penury wickedness and death have dominated portrayals of African childhood The hegemonic lens of the West has failed to take into account the intricacies of not only what it means to be an African child in local and culturally specific contexts but also African childhood in general Challenging colonial discourses this edited volume guides the reader through different comprehensions and perspectives of childhood in Africa Using a blend of theory empiricism and history the contributors to this volume offer studies from a range of fields including African literature Afro centric psychology and sociology Importantly in its eclectic geographical coverage of Africa this book unashamedly presents the good the bad and the ugly of African childhood The resilience creativity pains and triumphs of African childhood are skilfully woven together to present the myriad of lived experiences and aspirations of children from across Africa As an important contribution to African childhood studies this book has the potential to be used by policymakers to shape sustain or change socio cultural economic and education systems that accommodate African childhood dynamics and experiences at different levels
