

Common set of jumper cables for use with a second battery to crank and start the engine. EXTREME care should be exercised when using a second battery, as explained in the text.

ALWAYS connect a cable from the positive terminals of the dead battery to the positive terminal of the good battery FIRST. NEXT, connect one end of the other cable to the negative terminals of the good battery and the other end of the ENGINE for a good ground. By making the ground connection on the engine, if there is an arc when you make the connection it will not be near the battery. An arc near the battery could cause an explosion, destroying the battery and causing serious personal injury.

An ideal fuel tank and fuel line arrangement for an outboard unit. The tank should be kept clean and well secured in the boat. The quick-disconnect device affords easy removal for filling and safety.

DISCONNECT the battery ground cable before replacing an alternator or before connecting any type of meter to the alternator.

If it is necessary to use a fast-charger on a dead battery, ALWAYS disconnect one of the boat cables from the battery first, to prevent burning out the diodes in the circuit.

NEVER use a fast charger as a booster to start the engine because the diodes will be DAMAGED.

Alternator Charging

When the battery is partially discharged, the ammeter should change from discharge to charge between 500 to 1000 rpm for all models. If the battery is fully-charged, the rpm will be a little higher.

2-8 CARBURETOR ADJUSTMENT

Fuel and Fuel Tanks

Take time to check the fuel tank and all of the fuel lines, fittings, couplings, valves, flexible tank fill and vent. Turn on the fuel supply valve at the tank. If the gas was not drained at the end of the previous season, Quicksilver Gasoline Stabilizer and Conditioner may be used to keep the gasoline in the tank fresh. Such an additive will prevent the fuel from "stinking" for up to twelve months.
