ECKM2014-Proceedings of the 15th European conference on Knowledge Management Carla Vivas, 2014-10-01 The world economy in which we are living poses challenges that lead to a realization that more of the same will be difficult to sustain. This provides an illustration that in order to create new or modified knowledge practices strengthen customer relationships and thus positively influence customer satisfaction organizations must be flexible in configuring combining knowledge and knowledge structures in a way that is appropriate for delivering value to the customer. It must simultaneously develop effective strategies for updating the knowledge of its staff members necessary for underpinning the creation and delivery of appropriate knowledge services. Thus unlearning forgetting becomes a critical means for organizational success. The ECKM community of scholars has already initiated dialogue that links its particular strengths to innovation issues. This conference aims to further that dialogue by attracting leading edge work that leverages the ECKM community's in depth understanding of learning and unlearning to better understand knowledge management. Our aim is to stimulate breakthrough research streams linking learning unlearning and knowledge management. How can organizations tailor use and extend techniques and tools from knowledge management for improving their business practices and processes. Building upon existing work on knowledge management KM and organizational learning the conference will promote interdisciplinary approaches from computer science and information systems business management and organization science as well as cognitive science. Emphasis will be put on systematic learning from experience KM tools and KM success factors. A special interest belongs to knowledge management initiatives which are lightweight i.e. do not place considerable additional burden on users and KM experts allow an incremental adoption i.e. do not require large up front investment before any return of investment is at least visible and are flexible regarding frequent changes in experts and topics. Continuing the success of the ECKM conference series since 2000 the 2015 conference will provide an international communication forum bringing together academia and industry for discussing the progress made and addressing the challenges faced by continuous learning in knowledge intensive organizations.

What We Think About When We Try Not To Think About Global Warming Per Espen Stoknes, 2015 Today about 98 percent of scientists affirm that climate change is human made and about 2 percent still question it. Despite that overwhelming majority though about half the population of rich countries like ours choose to believe the 2 percent. And paradoxically this large camp of deniers grows even larger as more and more alarming proof of climate change has cropped up over the last decades. This disconnect has both climate scientists and activists scratching their heads growing anxious and responding usually by repeating more facts to win the argument. But the more climate facts pile up the greater the resistance to them grows and the harder it becomes to enact measures to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and prepare communities for the inevitable change ahead. Is humanity up to the task? It is a catch 22 that starts says psychologist and climate expert Per Espen Stoknes from an inadequate understanding of the way most humans think act and live in the world around them With dozens of examples he shows how to retell the story of climate change and apply communication strategies more fit for the task Publisher s description

Oil's Deep State Kevin Taft,2017-10-06 Why have democratic governments failed to take serious steps to reduce carbon emissions despite dire warnings and compelling evidence of the profound and growing threat posed by global warming Most of the writing on global warming is by scientists academics environmentalists and journalists Kevin Taft a former leader of the opposition in Alberta brings a fresh perspective through the insight he gained as an elected politician who had an insider s eyewitness view of the role of the oil industry His answer in brief The oil industry has captured key democratic institutions in both Alberta and Ottawa Taft begins his book with a perceptive observer s account of a recent court case in Ottawa which laid bare the tactics and techniques of the industry its insiders and lobbyists He casts dramatic new light on exactly how corporate lobbyists politicians bureaucrats universities and other organizations are working together to pursue the oil industry s agenda He offers a brisk tour of the recent work of scholars who have developed the concepts of the deep state and institutional capture to understand how one rich industry can override the public interest Taft views global warming and weakened democracy as two symptoms of the same problem the loss of democratic institutions to corporate influence and control He sees citizen engagement and direct action by the public as the only response that can unravel big oil s deep state
