

THE DUBE TRAIN BY CAN THEMBA

1. Summary

The narrator is at Dube Station in Soweto on a cold Monday morning, waiting for the train to Johannesburg. All his descriptions of the station and people emphasise his depression, which he feels is shared by all the people around him.

When he gets onto the train he sits opposite a huge man. When the train gets to Pheloni Station a young woman enters the carriage and sits next to the narrator. Soon afterwards a tsotsi jumps onto the train and begins verbally harassing the girl. When the girl reaches her stop and wants to get off the train the tsotsi prevents her and slaps her. She tries to get away from him by jumping over the narrator but the tsotsi follows her.

No one dares to say anything to stop the tsotsi, until an older woman starts shouting at the men and calling them cowards. This causes the tsotsi to swear at the woman. This angers the huge man sitting opposite the narrator and he gets up and moves towards the tsotsi. The tsotsi pulls out a knife and cuts the big man's chest and arm. The big man is enraged and, in spite of his injuries, he grabs the tsotsi and lifts him up. He throws him out of the train window.

Everyone is shocked, but the incident soon becomes just another event on the morning Dube train.

2. Title

The title focuses on the train journey rather than on any characters in the story. The writer intends us to see the train journey as a comment on the lives people experience. Even when bad things happen people just accept them. The incident on the train happens to people no one knows or is concerned about. It soon becomes: Just an incident in the morning Dube train.

3. Themes

The main themes of this story are:

- Violence, crime and barbarism in the townships; and

Lennox-Short, 1972 Satyajit Ray's The Chess Players and Postcolonial Film Theory Reena Dube, 2005-05-04 Indispensable for students of film studies in this book Reena Dube explores Satyajit Ray's films and The Chess Players in particular in the context of discourses of labour in colonial and postcolonial conditions Starting from Daniel Defoe and moving through history short story and film to the present Dube widens her analysis with comparisons in which Indian films are situated alongside Hollywood and other films and interweaves historical and cultural debates within film theory Her book treats film as part of the larger cultural production of India and provides a historical sense of the cross genre borrowings traditions and debates that have deeply influenced Indian cinema and its viewers Rendering Things Visible Martin Trump, 1991 Much recent critical practice sharpened by an engagement with theory has questioned conventional notions about literature The essays in this book reveal the complex and arguably inevitable politicization of South African literary culture Alternation, 1995

Claiming the City in South African Literature Meg Samuelson, 2021-08-23 This book demonstrates the insights that literature brings to transdisciplinary urban studies and particularly to the study of cities of the South Starting from the claim staked by mining capital in the late nineteenth century and its production of extractive and segregated cities it surveys over a century of writing in search of counterclaims through which the literature reimagines the city as a place of assembly and attachment Focusing on how the South African city has been designed to funnel gold into the global economy and to service an enclaved minority the study looks to the literary city to advance a contrary emphasis on community conviviality and care An accessible and informative introduction to literature of the South African city at significant historical junctures this book will also be of great interest to scholars and students in urban studies and Global South studies Spring Annual
