Anatomy Posters For Med Students:

Science Patricia Fara,2009 Science A Four Thousand Year History rewrites science s past Instead of focussing on difficult experiments and abstract theories Patricia Fara shows how science has always belonged to the practical world of war politics and business Rather than glorifying scientists as idealized heroes she tells true stories about real people men and some women who needed to earn their living who made mistakes and who trampled down their rivals in their quest for success Fara sweeps through the centuries from ancient Babylon right up to the latest hi tech experiments in genetics and particle physics illuminating the financial interests imperial ambitions and publishing enterprises that have made science the powerful global phenomenon that it is today She also ranges internationally illustrating the importance of scientific projects based around the world from China to the Islamic empire as well as the more familiar tale of science in Europe from Copernicus to Charles Darwin and beyond Above all this four thousand year history challenges scientific supremacy arguing controversially that science is successful not because it is always right but because people have said that it is right

Rhetoric in the Flesh T. Kenny Fountain,2014-07-11 Rhetoric in the Flesh is the first book length ethnographic study of the gross anatomy lab to explain how rhetorical discourses multimodal displays and embodied practices facilitate learning and technical expertise and how they shape participants perceptions of the human body By investigating the role that discourses displays and human bodies play in the training and socialization of medical students T

Kenny Fountain contributes to our theoretical and practical understanding of the social factors that make rhetoric possible and material in technical domains. Thus the book also explains how these displays, discourses, and practices lead to the trained perspective necessary for expertise. This trained vision is constructed over time through what Fountain terms embodied rhetorical action: an intertwining of body, object, environment that undergirds all scientific, medical, and technical work. This book will be valuable for graduate and advanced undergraduate courses in technical and professional communication, technical communication theory and practice, visual or multimodal communication, medical technical communication, and rhetorical studies, including visual rhetoric, rhetoric of science, medical rhetoric, material rhetoric, and embodiment, and ethnographic approaches to rhetoric.
