For every When? There is a Why?

For every push, there is a pull

For every truth there is a lie

For every fall there is a fool

For every Where? There is a How?

For every Heaven, there is a Hell

For every moment there is a now

For every nose there is a smell

For every foe there is a friend

For every smile there are many tears

For every start there is an end

When every day we face our fears

Poems with Simple Lines and Simple Rhymes Robert D. Womack, 2004-04 Complete Poems Claude

McKay, 2004-01-29 Containing more than three hundred poems including nearly a hundred previously unpublished works this unique collection showcases the intellectual range of Claude McKay 1889 1948 the Jamaican born poet and novelist whose life and work were marked by restless travel and steadfast social protest McKay's first poems were composed in rural Jamaican creole and launched his lifelong commitment to representing everyday black culture from the bottom up Migrating to New York he reinvigorated the English sonnet and helped spark the Harlem Renaissance with poems such as If We Must Die After coming under scrutiny for his communism he traveled throughout Europe and North Africa for twelve years and returned to Harlem in 1934 having denounced Stalin's Soviet Union By then McKay's pristine violent sonnets were giving way to confessional lyrics informed by his newfound Catholicism McKay's verse eludes easy definition yet this complete anthology vividly introduced and carefully annotated by William J Maxwell acquaints readers with the full transnational evolution of a major voice in twentieth century poetry

The Concertmaster L. Dougherty, 2006-03 Logan can hear his friend Jim in the parking lot fighting the officers like he fights everybody every day The shouting rips apart the peace of the night Once Logan steps across the threshold of the motel room and sees a trail of crimson footprints he knows that his life is out of control None of this day seems real It must be a dream he decides a nightmare This cannot be happening to him Not to Logan Kossowicz the violinist the boy with a future who was supposed to be heading to Juilliard on a full scholarship After years of waiting he was finally going to leave Danville behind and begin his meteoric rise as a soloist Now handcuffs dangle from his thin wrists flopping with each step Terrified he wonders what will happen next Ever since he was six years old he has dreamed of becoming a renowned virtuoso commanding stages throughout the world astounding every audience His father was counting on it Forced into the back of a patrol car Logan slumps as he realizes that dreams cannot begin here This is where dreams end This is where hope ends Everything changes tonight
