1. Explore the Build an Atom simulation with your group. As you explore, talk about what you find.
2.
 - a) List two things your group observed in the simulation.
Responses will vary, but here is what you should see....
 - Adding protons changes the identity of the atom - adding one moves from right to left on the Periodic Table.
 - You can get the atom to be stable/unstable by adjusting the number of neutrons
 - Adding electrons will change it from a +ion to neutral atom, to -ion depending on how many electrons you add
 - Adding electrons - you can only add 2 to the first orbital and 8 to the second
 - b) What particle(s) are found in the center of the atom?
Protons and neutrons
3. Play until you discover which particle(s) determine(s) the name of the element you build. What did you discover?
4. What is the name of the following atoms?
 - a) An atom with 3 protons and 4 neutrons: Lithium
 - b) An atom with 2 protons and 4 neutrons: Helium
 - c) An atom with 4 protons and 4 neutrons: Beryllium

 - a) Fill in the blanks below to show your results:

Neutral atoms have the same number of protons and electrons.

Positive ions have more protons than electrons.

Negative ions have fewer protons than electrons.
 - b) Develop a relationship (in the form of a single sentence or equation) that can predict the charge based on the number and types of particle.
The charge of an atom is determined by the ratio of protons to electrons.

However, the hands on nature of science instruction also makes it uniquely challenging when teaching in virtual environments. How do we as science teachers deliver high quality experiences to secondary students in an online environment that leads to age grade level appropriate science content knowledge and literacy but also collaborative experiences in the inquiry process and the nature of science? The expansion of online environments for education poses logistical and pedagogical challenges for early childhood and elementary science teachers and early learners. Despite digital media becoming more available and ubiquitous and increases in online spaces for teaching and learning, Killham et al 2014, Wong et al 2018, PreK-12 teachers consistently report feeling underprepared or overwhelmed by online learning environments. Molnar et al 2021, Seaman et al 2018. This is coupled with persistent challenges related to elementary teachers' lack of confidence and low science teaching self efficacy. Ideal for undergraduate teacher candidates, graduate students, teacher educators, classroom teachers, parents, and administrators, this book addresses why and how teachers use online environments to teach science content and work with elementary students through a research based foundation. Common Core Mathematics Standards and Implementing Digital
