Rosinger,1987-11-01 During the last few years several fairly systematic nonlinear theories of generalized solutions of rather arbitrary nonlinear partial differential equations have emerged The aim of this volume is to offer the reader a sufficiently detailed introduction to two of these recent nonlinear theories which have so far contributed most to the study of generalized solutions of nonlinear partial differential equations bringing the reader to the level of ongoing research The essence of the two nonlinear theories presented in this volume is the observation that much of the mathematics concerning existence uniqueness regularity etc of generalized solutions for nonlinear partial differential equations can be reduced to elementary calculus in Euclidean spaces combined with elementary algebra in quotient rings of families of smooth functions on Euclidean spaces all of that joined by certain asymptotic interpretations In this way one avoids the complexities and difficulties of the customary functional analytic methods which would involve sophisticated topologies on various function spaces The result is a rather elementary yet powerful and far reaching method which can among others give generalized solutions to linear and nonlinear partial differential equations previously unsolved or even unsolvable within distributions or hyperfunctions Part 1 of the volume discusses the basic limitations of the linear theory of distributions when dealing with linear or nonlinear partial differential equations particularly the impossibility and degeneracy results Part 2 examines the way Colombeau constructs a nonlinear theory of generalized functions and then succeeds in proving quite impressive existence uniqueness regularity etc results concerning generalized solutions of large classes of linear and nonlinear partial differential equations Finally Part 3 is a short presentation of the nonlinear theory of Rosinger showing its connections with Colombeau s theory which it contains as a particular case Book Catalog of the Library and Information Services
