Qualities covered include means of production, physical characteristics, utility, and relative sweetness compared to sucrose. Technical qualities covered include admixture, potential application, availability, shelf life, transport, metabolism, carcinogenicity, and other toxicity evaluation data. Non-Timber Forest Products Azamal Husen, Rakesh Kumar Bachheti, Archana Bachheti, 2021-07-30 Forests cover thirty-one percent of the world's land surface, provide habitats for animals, livelihoods for humans, and generate household income in rural areas of developing countries. They also supply other essential amenities; for instance, they filter water, control water runoff, protect soil erosion, regulate climate, store nutrients, and facilitate countless non-timber forest products (NTFPs). The main NTFPs comprise herbs, grasses, climbers, shrubs, and trees used for food, fodder, fuel, beverages, medicine, animals, birds, and fish for food, fur, and feathers, as well as their products like honey, lac, silk, and paper. At present, these products play an important role in the daily life and well-being of millions of people worldwide. Hence, the forest and its products are very valuable, and often NTFPs are considered as the potential pillars of sustainable forestry. NTFPs items like food, herbal drugs, forage, fuel, wood, fountain fibre, bamboo, rattans, leaves, barks, resins, and gums have been continuously used and exploited by humans. Wild edible foods are rich in terms of vitamins, protein, fat, sugars, and minerals. Additionally, some NTFPs are used as important raw materials for pharmaceutical industries. Numerous industry-based NTFPs are now being exported in considerable quantities by developing countries. Accordingly, this sector facilitates employment opportunities in remote rural areas. So, these developments also highlight the role of NTFPs in poverty alleviation in different regions of the world. This book provides a wide spectrum of information on NTFPs, including important references. We hope that the compendium of chapters in this book will be very useful as a reference book for graduate and postgraduate students and researchers in various disciplines of forestry, botany, medical botany, economic botany, ecology, agroforestry, and biology. Additionally, this book should be useful for scientists experts and consultants associated with the forestry sector Sensory Evaluation Techniques, Fourth Edition Morten C. Meilgaard, B.
