Henry Clay and other notables the ACS sent thousands of black emigrants to Liberia In examining the ACS s activities in America and Africa Eric Burin assesses the organization s impact on slavery and race relations Burin focuses on ACS manumissions that is instances wherein slaves were freed on the condition that they go to Liberia In doing so he provides the first account of the ACS that covers the entire South throughout the antebellum era He investigates everyone involved in the society s affairs from the emancipators and freedpersons at the center to the colonization agents free blacks southern jurists newspaper editors neighboring whites proslavery ideologues northern colonizationists and abolitionists on the periphery In mixing a panoramic view of ACS operations with close ups on individual participants Burin presents a unique bifocal perspective on the ACS Although colonization leaders initially envisioned their program as a pacific enterprise in reality the push and pull among emancipators freedpersons and others rendered ACS manumissions logistically complex financially troublesome legally complicated and at times socially disruptive enterprises Like pebbles dropped in water ACS manumissions rippled outward destabilizing slavery in their wake Based on extensive archival research and a database of 11 000 ACS emigrants Burin s study offers new insights concerning the origins intentions activities and fate of the colonization movement

Campbell,Matthew Pratt Guterl,Robert G. Lee,2017-12-10 While public debates over America s current foreign policy often treat American empire as a new phenomenon this lively collection of essays offers a pointed reminder that visions of national and imperial greatness were a cornerstone of the new country when it was founded In fact notions of empire have long framed debates over western expansion Indian removal African slavery Asian immigration and global economic dominance and they persist today despite the proliferation of anti imperialist rhetoric In fifteen essays distinguished historians examine the central role of empire in American race relations nationalism and foreign policy from the founding of the United States to the twenty first century The essays trace the global expansion of American merchant capital the rise of an evangelical Christian mission movement the dispossession and historical erasure of indigenous peoples the birth of new identities and the continuous struggles over the place of darker skinned peoples in a settler society that still fundamentally imagines itself as white Full of transnational connections and cross pollinations of people appearing in unexpected places the essays are also stories of people being put quite literally in their place by the bitter struggles over the boundaries of race and nation Collectively these essays demonstrate that the seemingly contradictory processes of boundary crossing and boundary making are and always have been intertwined Contributors James T Campbell Brown University Ruth Feldstein Rutgers University Newark Kevin K Gaines University of Michigan Matt Garcia Brown University Matthew Pratt Guterl Indiana University George Hutchinson Indiana University Matthew Frye Jacobson Yale University Prema Kurien Syracuse University Robert G Lee Brown University Eric Love University of Colorado Boulder Melani McAlister George Washington University Joanne Pope Melish University of Kentucky Louise M Newman University of Florida Vernon J Williams Jr Indiana University Natasha Zaretsky Southern Illinois University Carbondale
