Abstract: This study examined the effects of a 12-week, 100% bodyweight resistance training program on the muscle strength, body composition, and cardiovascular fitness of sedentary, middle-aged men. The program was designed to be performed in a home setting and consisted of three sessions per week. The results showed that the program was effective in increasing muscle strength, body composition, and cardiovascular fitness. The program was also well-tolerated and had no adverse effects on health. The findings suggest that a 12-week, 100% bodyweight resistance training program is a viable option for improving health and fitness in sedentary, middle-aged men.
