Assessment in Geographical Education: An International Perspective Theresa Bourke, Reece Mills, Rod Lane, 2022-02-27 In recent years there has been increased attention paid to the importance of assessment in Geographical Education the chosen subject for this book Assessment is an important tool for collecting information about student learning and for providing timely data to inform key stakeholders including students teachers parents and policymakers To be effective assessment needs to be valid reliable and fair Validity is about ensuring that we assess what we claim we are assessing Reliability is about measuring performance and understanding in a consistent way Without validity and reliability assessment is unlikely to provide equitable opportunities for students to demonstrate what they know and can do As geography educators it is therefore important that we identify the core concepts and skills in geography that we want students to master We need a clear understanding of what the progression of learning looks like for each concept and skill so we can develop fit for purpose assessments that track and improve student learning While there is a substantial literature on evidence based assessment in secondary school contexts research exploring best practice assessment in geography is rare This is a concern given the distinctive nature of geography and the important role of assessment in the learning process This scholarly collection seeks to address this issue by connecting research in educational assessment with the domain of geography The chapters are written by leading researchers in Geographical Education from across the globe These chapters provide examples of innovation through the collective voices of geography teacher educator scholars from across Australia USA South Korea Germany Switzerland and Singapore What unifies the work in this book is that each chapter focuses on a key feature of the discipline of geography providing scholarly examples of evidence based practices for assessing student s knowledge and skills

Geography Education in Japan Yoshiyasu Ida,Minori Yuda,Takashi Shimura,Shunsuke Ike,Koji Ohnishi,Hideki Oshima,2014-12-01 In a globalized market where the emerging workforce will increasingly travel within their nations and abroad for work opportunities it is valuable to learn about the international education system and practices to assess the competition For example annual comparison of student performance is measured across math and science subjects globally What is not well known is how geography educational systems compare around the world and how student success in this subject translates to learning in other courses or employment after graduation The importance of geography in our personal professional and civic lives is transparent when one considers how finding one s way with a map understanding of world cultures or identifying spatial patterns of disease spread might influence the decisions we make Written for a global audience this is the first English publication on geography education in Japan addressing some fundamental questions What is the nature of the geography educational systems in Japan How does the focus on content and skills in Japanese schools differ from that in other countries This book includes 25 authors from diverse geography instruction and research experiences making it an authoritative publication on Japan s geography education system The contribution of this book to the larger geography educational community is sharing the key strengths concerns and future of this school subject in English where previously most publications were in Japanese It will be a useful source for researchers and teachers to understand Japan s evolving geography instruction in the past present and future The 21 chapters are organized into themes beginning with an overview of the geography education system in Japan followed by chapters that deal with regional geography and fieldwork teacher training geography education s contributions to society and a comparative study of geography education across multiple countries The book ends with a vision of geography education in the future

Setting Consensus Goals for Academic Achievement James Pellegrino, Laurens Wise, Nambury Raju, 2014-10-13 This special issue is based on a workshop which began with a description and examination of the current National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP standard setting model then looked to standard setting applications outside of education These applications included those that focus on human performance and the adequacy of human performance in these contexts raters were asked to focus on the knowledge and skills that underlie competent performance Researchers also examined applications that focus on the impact of environmental agents on life and the ecology in these cases raters began with the knowledge that more or less of a substance is better and as for NAEP the judgment task was to determine how good is good enough They wished to examine parallels in the objectives empirical grounding judgmental requirements and policy tensions for standard setting in NAEP and in other domains These papers were commissioned to examine the current state of affairs and residual issues with respect to achievement level setting in NAEP and to help determine whether the models and methods used in other disciplines have useful application to education It is important to note that the papers represent the authors' views not necessarily those of the committee or National Research Council This issue and the workshop discussion point out a number of analogies between the objectives requisite data judgment requirements and policy issues for NAEP and other applications The editors hope that this issue and wide distribution of these papers will prompt others to join in this interesting analysis and debate Congressional Record United States.
