Multimodality, Digitalization and Cognition in Communication and Pedagogy Natalya V. Sukhova,Tatiana

Dubrovskaya, Yulia A. Lobina, 2021-10-21 This book positions itself at the intersection of the key areas of the modern humanities. Different authors from a variety of countries take innovative approaches to investigating multimodal communication, adapting pedagogical design to digital environments and enhancing cognitive skills through transformations in teaching and learning practices. The eclectic forms under study require eclectic approaches and methodologies, and the authors cross disciplinary boundaries drawing on philosophy, linguistics, semiotics, computational linguistics, mathematics, cognitive studies, and neuroaesthetics. Part I presents methods of analysing multimodal communication in its different displays, covering promotional video in crowdfunding project presentations, multimodal public signs of prohibition and visuals as arguments. Part II explores varied teaching methodologies that have emerged as a result of and in response to modern technological changes and contains some practical hints for educators. It demonstrates the pedagogical potential of video games, virtual worlds, linguistic corpora, and online dictionaries. Part III focuses on psychological and cognitive factors influencing success in the classroom, primarily ways of developing students and teachers' personalities. The volume sits at the intersection between Communication Studies, Digital Humanities, Discourse Analysis, Education Theory, and Cognitive Studies and is useful to scholars and students of communication, languages, education, and other areas of the humanities. This book should trigger scholarly discussions as well as stimulating practitioners' interest in these fields. A Multimodal Exploration of Non-Fiction Read-Aloud Performances in English as an Additional Language Elisa Bertoldi, 2025-10-01 This book explores how children and adults co-construct meaning during non-fiction picturebook read-aloud performances in English as an Additional Language context. At a time when non-fiction picturebooks are receiving growing attention for their potential to communicate knowledge in creative and engaging ways, this volume takes a closer look at how these books can be mediated for children's language education. The book draws on the TALES (Telling and Listening to Eco-sustainable Stories) initiative organized by the Teacher Education Department of the University of Udine, Italy, in collaboration with the local Natural History Museum. Focusing on mediation as a dynamic multimodal process, the book examines how storytellers use spoken language, gesture, gaze, voice, facial expressions, and props to scaffold children's comprehension and invite active participation. While the findings are context-specific, they may inform educators, researchers, and teacher educators interested in multimodal mediation for communicating knowledge and information through non-fiction picturebooks in contexts where English as an additional language is used. Intercultural Communication Ron Scollon, Suzanne Wong Scollon, Rodney H. Methodological Developments in Teaching Spanish as a Second and Foreign Language Guadalupe Ruiz-Farjardo,2012-11-16 This book on applied linguistics presents new trends and improvements on the teaching of Spanish It deals with two major scopes in the field of linguistics that have a crucial role in the development of language teaching in general and of the teaching of Spanish in particular Interaction and Grammar The topics chosen coincide with the areas in which the communicative approach to language teaching dominant in European and American language programs since the 1970s and 80s has been the object of most revision In its first part the book appeals both to pragmatics and to discourse analysis to research the specifics of classroom discourse and classroom interaction as well as the differences between interactions among Spanish native speakers and interactions among non natives in order to develop methodologies for the effective incorporation of these aspects to the Spanish language classroom such as tasks to teach interaction or techniques to implement learner centered interactive class dynamics and cooperative learning In its second part this book reviews the pedagogical advantages of language description based on Cognitive Linguistic theory to explain different aspects of Spanish grammar The main purpose of our contribution is to show how taking different dimensions of construal and perspective in linguistic representations into account helps teachers to elucidate idiosyncratic and subtle contrasts of Spanish structure that other views and approaches cannot clarify on a meaningful base such as the aspectual opposition between preterits or the modal opposition between indicative and subjunctive both of high importance for the English speaking student The work selected for this book by experts from Columbia University and from several universities in Spain represents the most current lines of inquiry in this post communicative approach as applied specifically to the teaching of Spanish This book seeks to be to be a must read for the present and future It tackles unexplored territory for journals and applied linguistics collections have mainly addressed these problems in relation to English language and instruction

Storytelling and the Sciences of Mind David Herman, 2017-02-24 An transdisciplinary exploration of narrative not just as a target for interpretation but also as a means for making sense of experience itself With Storytelling and the Sciences of Mind David Herman proposes a cross fertilization between the study of narrative and research on intelligent behavior This cross fertilization goes beyond the simple importing of ideas from the sciences of mind into scholarship on narrative and instead aims for convergence between work in narrative studies and research in the cognitive sciences The book as a whole centers on two questions How do people make sense of stories And How do people use stories to make sense of the world Examining narratives from different periods and across multiple media and genres Herman shows how traditions of narrative research can help shape ways of formulating and addressing questions about intelligent activity and vice versa Using case studies that range from Robert Louis Stevenson s Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde to sequences from The Incredible Hulk comics to narratives told in everyday interaction Herman considers storytelling both as a target for interpretation and as a resource for making sense of experience itself In doing so he puts ideas from narrative scholarship into dialogue with such fields as psycholinguistics philosophy of mind and cognitive social and ecological psychology After exploring ways in which interpreters of stories can use textual cues to build narrative worlds or storyworlds Herman investigates how this process of narrative worldmaking in turn supports efforts to understand and engage with the conduct of persons among other aspects of lived experience
