MACDONALD, 2018 A Rough Shaking George MacDonald, HardPress, 2013-06 Unlike some other reproductions of classic texts 1 We have not used OCR Optical Character Recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos 2 In books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc We have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact Although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy A Rough Shaking (Classic Reprint) George MacDonald, 2017-09-17 Excerpt from A Rough Shaking Of big trees with a slope Of green on my left stretching away into the sunny distance and the shadows of the trees on my right lying below my feet The earth and the grass and the trees and the air were together weaving a harmony and the birds were leading the big orchestra which was indeed on the largest scale For the instruments were SO different that some of them only were meant for sound the part Of others was in Odour of others yet in Shine and Of still others in motion while the birds turned it all as nearly into words as they could Presently to complete the score I heard the tones of a man s voice both strong and sweet It was talking to some one in a way I could not understand I do not mean I could not understand the words I was too far off even to hear them but I could not understand how the voice came to be so modulated It was deep soft and musical with something like coaxing in it and some thing Of tenderness and the intent Of it puzzled me For I could not conjecture from it the age or sex or relation or kind of the person to whom the words were spoken You can tell by the voice when a man is talking to him self it ought to be evident when he is talking to a woman and you can surely tell when he is talking to a child you could tell if he were speaking to him who made him and you would be pretty certain if he was holding communication with his dog it made me feel strange that I could not tell the kind of ear open to the gentle manly voice saying things which the very sound of them made me long to hear I confess to hurrying my pace a little but I trust with no improper curiosity To see I cannot say the interlocutors for I had heard and still heard only one voice About a minute s walk brought me to the corner of the wood where it stopped abruptly giving way to a field Of beautiful grass and then I saw something it does not need to be Old to be delighted withal the boy that would not have taken pleasure in it I should count half way to the gallows Up to the edge Of the wood came I say a large field acres on acres of the sweetest grass and dividing it from both wood and path stood a fence Of three bars which at the moment separated two as genuine lovers as ever wall of stones with lime and hair knit up could have sundered On one Side Of the fence stood a man whose face I could not see and on the other one of the loveliest horses I had ever set eyes upon I am no better than a middling fair horseman but for this horse s sake I may be allowed to mention that my friends will all have me look at any horse they think of buying He was over sixteen hands with well rounded barrel clean limbs small head and broad muzzle hollows above his eyes of hazy blue and delicacy of feature revealed him quite an Old horse His ears pointed forward and downward as if they wanted on their own account to get a hold of the man the nose was so busily caressing Neither I presume had heard my approach for all true love endearments are Shy and the man had his arm round the horse s neck and was caressing his face talking to him much as Philip Sidney s lady whose lips seemed at once to kiss and speak murmured to her pet sparrow only here the voice was a musical baritone That there was something between them more than an ordinary person would be likely to understand appeared patent About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com A Rough Shaking George MacDonald, 2020-05-22 It was a day when everything around seemed almost perfect everything does now and then come nearly right for a moment or two preparatory to coming all right for good at the last It was the third week in June The great furnace was glowing and shining in full force driving the ship of our life at her best speed through the ocean of space For on deck and between decks and aloft there is so much more going on at one time than at another that I may well say she was then going at her best speed for there is quality as well as rate in motion The trees were all well clothed most of them in their very best Their garments were soaking up the light and the heat and the wind was going about among them telling now one and now another that all was well and getting through an immense amount of comfort work in a single minute It said a word or two to myself as often as it passed me and made me happier than any boy I know just at present for I was an old man and ought to be more easily made happy than any mere beginner Shaking it Rough Andreas Schroeder, 1976 With insight and compassion Schroeder presents many aspects of life in a British Columbia prison 1976
