literary culture that probes the connections between place language and text in order to show what language comes to stand for in people's lives. In so doing she unmasks a social discourse rife with questions of authenticity and cultural politics of inclusion and exclusion. English Heart Hindi Heartland illustrates how the notion of what is considered to be culturally and linguistically authentic not only obscures larger questions relating to caste, religious and gender identities but that the authenticity discourse itself is continually in flux. In order to mediate and extract cultural capital from India's complex linguistic hierarchies, literary practitioners strategically deploy a fluid set of cultural and political distinctions that Sadana calls literary nationality. Sadana argues that English and the way it is positioned among the other Indian languages does not represent a fixed pole but rather serves to change political and literary alliances among classes and castes often in surprising ways.

The Indian English Novel Priyamvada Gopal, 2009. The Oxford Studies in Postcolonial Literatures series offers stimulating and accessible introductions to definitive topics and key genres and regions within the rapidly diversifying field of postcolonial literary studies in English. It is often claimed that unlike the British novel or the novel in indigenous Indian languages, Anglophone fiction in India has no genealogy of its own. Interrogating this received idea, Priyamvada Gopal shows how the English language or Anglophone Indian novel is a heterogeneous body of fiction in which certain dominant trends and recurrent themes are nevertheless discernible. It is a genre that has been distinguished from its inception by a preoccupation with both history and nation as these come together to shape what scholars have termed the idea of India. Structured around themes such as Gandhi and Fiction, The Bombay Novel and The Novel of Partition, this study traces lines of influence across significant literary works and situates individual writers and texts in their historical context. Its emergence out of the colonial encounter and nation formation has impelled the Anglophone novel to return repeatedly to the question: What is India? In the most significant works of Anglophone fiction, India emerges not just as a theme but as a point of debate, reflection and contestation. Writers whose works are considered in their context include Rabindranath Tagore, Mulk Raj Anand, R.K. Narayan, Salman Rushdie, Nayantara Sahgal, Amitav Ghosh, Arundhati Roy and Vikram Seth.

Writing Across Worlds Susheila Nasta, 2004-08-02. In 1984 the magazine Wasafiri was founded to promote multicultural writers' work. To celebrate its twentieth anniversary, this brings together some of the interviews with key international writers previously featured in Wasafiri.

Indian English Novel in the Nineties Sheo Bhushan Shukla, Anu Shukla, 2002. Contributed articles.
