Nabokov's Otherworld Vladimir E. Alexandrov, 2014-07-14 A major reexamination of the novelist Vladimir Nabokov as literary gamesman this book systematically shows that behind his ironic manipulation of narrative and his puzzle like treatment of detail there lies an aesthetic rooted in his intuition of a transcendent realm and in his consequent redefinition of nature and artifice as synonyms Beginning with Nabokov's discursive writings Vladimir Alexandrov finds his world view centered on the experience of epiphany characterized by a sudden fusion of varied sensory data and memories a feeling of timelessness and an intuition of immortality which grants the true artist intimations of an otherworld Readings of The Defense Invitation to a Beheading The Gift The Real Life of Sebastian

Knight Lolita and Pale Fire reveal the epiphanic experience to be a touchstone for the characters metaphysical insightfulness moral makeup and aesthetic sensibility and to be a structural model for how the narratives themselves are fashioned and for the nature of the reader's involvement with the text In his conclusion Alexandrov outlines several of Nabokov's possible intellectual and artistic debts to the brilliant and variegated culture that flourished in Russia on the eve of the Revolution Nabokov emerges as less alienated from Russian culture than most of his emigre readers believed and as less modernist than many of his Western readers still imagine Alexandrov's work is distinctive in that it applies an otherworld hypothesis as a consistent context to Nabokov's novels The approach is obviously a fruitful one Alexandrov is innovative in rooting Nabokov's ethics and aesthetics in the otherworldly and contributes greatly to Nabokov studies by examining certain key terms such as commonsense nature and artifice In general Alexandrov's study leads to a much clearer understanding of Nabokov's metaphysics D Barton Johnson University of California Santa Barbara Originally published in 1991 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Metaphors of Confinement Monika Fludernik, 2019 Metaphors of Confinement The Prison in Fact Fiction and Fantasy offers a historical survey of imaginings of the prison as expressed in carceral metaphors in a range of texts about imprisonment from Antiquity to the present as well as non penal situations described as confining or restrictive These imaginings coalesce into a carceral imaginary that determines the way we think about prisons just as social debates about punishment and criminals feed into the way carceral imaginary develops over time Examining not only English language prose fiction but also poetry and drama from the Middle Ages to postcolonial particularly African literature the book juxtaposes literary and non literary contexts and contrasts fictional and nonfictional representations of imprisonment and discussions about the prison as institution and experiential reality It comments on present day trends of punitivity and foregrounds the ethical dimensions of penal punishment The main argument concerns the continuity of carceral metaphors through the centuries despite historical developments that included major shifts in policy such as the invention of the penitentiary The study looks at selected carceral metaphors often from two complementary perspectives such as the home as prison or the prison as home or the factory as prison and the prison as factory The case studies present particularly relevant genres and texts that employ these metaphors often from a historical perspective that analyses development through different periods

That Other World Azar Nafisi, 2019-06-25 The foundational text for the acclaimed New York Times and international best seller Reading Lolita in Tehran The ruler of a totalitarian state seeks validation from a former schoolmate now the nation's foremost thinker in order to access a cultural cache alien to his regime A literary critic provides commentary on an unfinished poem that both foretells the poet's death and announces the critic's secret identity as the king of a lost country The greatest of Vladimir Nabokov's enchanters Humbert is lost within the antithesis of a fairy story in which Lolita does not hold the key to his past but rather imprisons him within the knowledge of his distance from that past In this precursor to her international best seller Reading Lolita in Tehran Azar Nafisi deftly explores the worlds apparently lost to Nabokov's characters their portals of access to those worlds and how other worlds hold a mirror to Nabokov's experiences of physical linguistic and recollective exile Written before Nafisi left the Islamic Republic of Iran and now published in English for the first time and with a new introduction by the author this book evokes the reader's quintessential journey of discovery and reveals what caused Nabokov to distinctively shape and reshape that journey for the author Perspectives on
