A Talent For Friendship Rediscovery Of A Remarkable Trait:

A Talent for Friendship John Terrell, 2015 Professor John Terrell argues that the ability to make friends is an evolved human trait not unlike our ability to walk upright on two legs or our capacity for speech and complex abstract reasoning Terrell charts how this trait has evolved by investigating two unique functions of the human brain the ability to remake the outside world to suit our collective needs and our capacity to escape into our own inner thoughts and imagine how things might and ought to be

Visions of the End Times Laura Duhan-Kaplan, Anne-Marie Ellithorpe, Harry O. Maier, 2022-11-11 Global challenges fill the news today It s not always easy to balance fear with hope That s why this book points to resources for optimism and action A diverse group of scholars draw on Jewish Christian Islamic and M ori traditions to describe challenges and hopes They recognize the ruptures of militarism trauma colonialism religious nationalism climate change and more But they also describe the healing power of communal action spiritual practices biblical literature and the arts Urban Friendships and Community Youth Practice Melvin Delgado, 2017 Urban Youth Friendships and Community Practice breaks new ground in identifying and capturing the importance of friendships and the role that community practitioners and scholars can play to enhance them Tales of the Ex-Apes Jonathan Marks, 2015-09-08 This book is about the irreducibility of human evolution to purely biological properties and processes for human evolution has incorporated the emergence of social relations and cultural histories that are unprecedented in the apes Human evolution over the last few million years has involved the transformation from biological evolution into biocultural evolution For several million years human intelligence dexterity and technology all co evolved with one another although the first two are organic properties and the last is inorganic Over the last few tens of thousands of years the development of new social roles notably spouse father in laws and grandparents have been combined with new technologies and symbolic meanings to produce the familiar human species This leads to a fundamental evolutionary understanding of humans as biocultural ex apes reducible neither to an imaginary cultureless biological core nor to our ancestry as apes Consequently there can be no natural history of the human condition or the human organism which is not a natural cultural history Provided by publisher Power from Below in Premodern Societies T. Edward Terrell, Eugene Anderson, Foreman Bandama, Abhik Ghosh, 2025-06-01 There is little agreement today on what it takes to be intelligent Yet this word is widely believed to be about something real mostly biological and important From this popular perspective intelligence is also something you can have a lot of and luckily find yourself being labeled as a genius Or sadly something you do not have nearly enough of and so find yourself being seen by others at least behind your back as silly stupid or plainly idiotic Looked at closely however it turns out this word belongs more in the realm of traditional folklore than modern science
