The Economics of Philanthropy Kimberley Scharf, Micro Tonin,2018-08-07 Experts bring economic tools to bear on philanthropic activities addressing topics that range from the determinants of giving to the effectiveness of fundraising techniques Economists are increasingly aware of the need to better understand philanthropic activities In this book economists address a variety of topics related to the economics of philanthropy ranging from the determinants of giving to the effectiveness of fundraising techniques The contributions focus on individual motives for giving and volunteering and in particular how they affect donation outcomes fundraising decisions and public policies toward giving Previous research has viewed motives for giving as embedded in formal models of economic behavior with rational agents who maximize their own utility while constrained by a budget These models however have been shown to have poor predictive power neglecting direct and indirect motives for giving The contributors consider among other subjects the free riding problem in these models altruistic direct and indirect motives for giving addressed both theoretically and with lab experiments the linear public good game the role of social information the effectiveness of matching gifts and premiums motives for unpaid volunteering subscription models as a way to regulate revenue streams and increasing reliance on public funds Contributors James Andreoni Jon Behar Avner Ben Ner Ted Bergstrom Greg Bose Sarah Brown Catherine C Eckel Christina Gravert David H Herberich Samantha Horn Fantingyu Hu Dean Karlan Ann Kathrin Koessler Benjamin M Marx Jonathan Meer Michael Menietti Bradley Minaker Mark Ottoni Wilhelm A Abigail Payne Maria P Recalde Kimberley Scharf Claudia Schwirplies Marta Serra Garcia Sarah Smith Karl Taylor Mette Trier Damgaard Lise Vesterlund Laura Villalobos

Behavioural Economics

and Regulation Maria C. de Campos, 2022-09-08 In recent years the idea of nudges small changes in individual choice architecture that do not involve incentives or coercion has entered policy discourse and practice to address various problems ranging from energy usage to retirement savings However how nudges can be incorporated into regulatory practice and whether the experimental methodologies used to design nudges are still appropriate when they are being used as a regulatory instrument is still an unexplored issue As this book shows the translation of ideas into the world of regulation is not so simple and straightforward By analysing the different experimental alternatives that regulators can use when designing nudges and through a close analysis of a real world example the case of the European Union tobacco warnings this book proposes an alternative design process more in tune with the reality of regulation The book explores the implications of iterative experimental methodologies and processes for regulators concluding with a call for an alternative nudging s design process tailored to the regulatory space This book is crucial for researchers and policy makers interested in the incorporation of nudging into regulation and anyone interested in the implications of behavioural economics and evidence more generally for regulatory design

Shadow Networks Francisco Louçã, Michael Ash, 2018 Many accounts of the financial crisis focus on renegade activity in marginal financial sectors This book argues that far from this pervading view the shadow finance that initiated the crisis is tightly networked with bank based finance It traces these networks to explain how the now decade long crisis took shape
