The Poems of Andrew Lang John Sloan, 2025-05-30 Andrew Lang 1844 1912 made his name in the last quarter of the Victorian era in a remarkable number of literary and intellectual fields as popular poet influential literary critic editor of the classic series of Fairy Books for the young and as author of groundbreaking books on anthropology Homeric scholarship folklore and history This is the first annotated edition of Lang's poems bringing together his books of verse and over 150 additional poems many of them collected for the first time John Sloan's introduction provides a compelling account of Lang's achievements as a poet whose first two books of verse Ballads and Lyrics of Old France and Ballades in Blue China were a harbinger of the English aesthetic movement Lang helped to create an abiding interest in French poetry and to encourage a new spirit of literary cosmopolitanism in England He also widened the appeal of poetry in an age of new knowledge advancing literacy and the growth of the popular press The authoritative text is accompanied by extensive notes identifying important allusions and significant connections between the poems and Lang's other writings In the headnote to each poem the reader will find a record of publication history textual variants and sources including details of the original sources of Lang's verse translations from the French Greek and Latin The edition offers an invaluable guide to the study of Lang's poetry for students and scholars of nineteenth century British poetry

Transmethylations and the Central Nervous System V. M. Andreoli, A. Agnoli, C. Fazio, 2013-12-11 V M ANDREOLI A AGNOLI and C FAZIO The transfer of a methyl group from a donor to an acceptor compound is a fundamental biochemical process long since known to biologists the process is involved for instance in the metabolism of porphyrins nucleic acids and fatty acids Only recently however did transmethylation processes reveal their decisive role in CNS biochemistry namely with the discovery that such processes are linked with the biogenic amines that have been conclusively identified as the chemical mediators of neuronal transmission and more broadly of behavior The first suggestion that transmethylation processes might be involved in the origin of certain mental diseases came from Harley Mason 1952 who noticed that many of the hallucinogenic substances known at that time contained methyl radicals and particularly that mescaline represented the product of O methylation of dopamine in positions 3 4 and 5 This hypothesis was put forward when the O methylation of catechol amines by catechol O methyltransferases had not yet been described Harley Mason further proposed that in the living organism the process of O methylation might follow a deviant metabolic pathway and that the accumulation of abnormal methylated metabolites endowed with hallucinogenic properties might be responsible for the implementation of some mental diseases notably schizophrenia He also called attention to a substance 3 4 dimethoxyphenylethylamine 3 4 DMPEA as a possible psychogenic molecule on the strength of its capacity for producing catalepsy in experimental animals
